Four Area Churches to Note Major Developments Sunday

Baptists Slate Dedication Of Sanctuary

On Sunday, Jan. 27 at 11 a.m. the Menlo Park First Baptist church will have the public dedication service of their new sanctuary. Ground breaking was March 11, 1962, and the first Sunday of occupancy was Dec. 16.

The pastor, Dr. Luther Plankenhorn, will preside at the dedication. Among those participating will be greetings from the mayor, the Honorable William R. Lawson; the Rev. Lynn Hodges, executive secretary of the American Baptist Union of San Francisco Bay Cities; Dr. Mack McCray, Jr., executive secretary of the Northern California Baptist Convention, and Harold Lemright, moderator of the Peninsula Association.

The opening prayer will be given by a former pastor, Dr. Frank Eden.

The architect, Alfred W. Johnson will present the building, J. Mark Heath will give a report of the building, and Parker E. Fisher will receive the building on behalf of the congregation.

The Chancel choir will sing "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place" by Brahms, under the direction of Dr. Colleen Bicknell, with Mrs. Luther Plankenhorn as organist.

Dr. W. Earle Smith, former executive secretary of the American Baptist Union of the San Francisco Bay Cities for approximately 35 years, and a member of the church, will preach the dedication sermon. His subject, "The Glory of the House of God."

The building committee, which has faithfully functioned for some three and one-half years, is J. Mark Heath, chairman; J. Stewart Bottema, vice-chairman; Mrs. J. Gwyn Moseley, secretary; Dayton Cushman, Robert Hill, John McCormick and Albert Balogh. Ex-officio—Gene Stephens, Parker E. Fisher, J. Gwyn Moseley, James Burson, Dr. and Mrs. Plankehorn.

An invitation is being extended to the friends of the church and those of the community to see the new sanctuary.

NEW SANCTUARY . . . . . of the Menlo Park First Baptist Church will be dedicated at Sunday morning worship services.

Assembly Breaks Ground

The Community Assembly of God church in Menlo Park will hold a groundbreaking ceremony on Sunday at 12:45 p.m. on its newly acquired property at 71 Bay Road.

Officiating will be the Rev. Jack Edgar, secretary of the Northern California and Nevada District council of the Assemblies of God, and the Rev. George Holmes, pastor of the church. Friends and neighbors are invited to attend.

Plans are complete for a sanctuary seating 300, with nursery and office accommodation. Plenty of parking space will be available when the building is finished. Existing buildings are already being used as a parsonage and office-study for the pastor.

Further plans include the construction of educational buildings and facilities, in the near future.

The church, currently, holds its services in the Encinal elementary school.

Because of its beautiful setting, the sanctuary will be known as "The Church in the Garden." Construction will commence in a few days.

The lesson at evening prayer will be read by Ralph Boynton, chairman of the finance department. After the dedication by Bishop Pike the service of evening prayer will be sung with the Rev. John R. Wyatt, rector of Holy Trinity parish, officiating.

Music for the service will be under the direction of Robert Keine, director of music for Holy Trinity parish and Frederick Wells, organist and choirmaster at St. Bede's.

St. Denis Building To Start

Archbishop Joseph P. McGucken of San Francisco was to have officiated yesterday afternoon, at groundbreaking for the new St. Denis church sanctuary at Avy Avenue and Monte Rosa Drive.

Turning the first spadeful of earth was to have been the granddaughter of the founder of the first St. Denis church—Mrs. William Tacchella of San Bruno.

The rites were held at 4:30 p.m., after the Recorder had gone to press.

The Rev. Thomas I. Kennedy, pastor of the church, said that Mrs. Tacchella is the granddaughter of Dennis Martin, whose first St. Denis church was dedicated about a mile away in 1856. It was the first Catholic church to be erected between Mission Santa Clara and Mission Dolores in San Francisco.

The $76,000 sanctuary, which is to have a seating capacity of 400, is expected to be completed in time for Easter services, Reverend Kennedy said.

He added that it is hoped a dedication can be arranged for early in June.

Sequoia Board Delays Action On Boundaries

Two more months of discussing the controversial attendance area realignment between Menlo-Atherton and Ravenswood High Schools were assured Thursday night when the Sequoia Union High School board decided to withhold a final decision for 60 days.

A "super-committee," including representatives from at least 11 area organizations, last night began the first of a series of meetings on the subject.

According to Addison Jones of the Willow Residents Association, the group's purpose is to "develop a degree of acceptance of a solution" to the boundary question.

Taking part are people from the Menalto triangle, the Willows group, the Flood Park Triangle Assn., the Suburban Park Homes Assn., the Menlo Oaks area near Menlo-Atherton, the Menlo Park High School Boundary Committee, the Woodside High area, the Redwood City area northwest of Woodside Road which sends students to Woodside High, the Japanese - American Citizens' League, and the Mid-Peninsula Council on Human Rights

Other groups may also have sent representatives to last night's meeting, which occurred too late for coverage in this week's newspaper.

Before the meeting, Janes said that the first session would likely be devoted mainly to officer elections and scheduling of meetings.

The decision to delay selection of a boundary realignment plan was not the only action taken at Thursday night's school board meeting in Sequoia High School auditorium.

They also:

—Decided against any change in present Ravenswood capacity for at least three years.

City Moves to Purchase Land For New Sanitary District HQ

Menlo Park officials Tuesday night declared their intent to eventually purchase El Camino Real frontage for relocation of the Menlo Park Sanitary District headquarters.

The site is now occupied by the Menlo Lumber Company which has access from both Ravenswood Avenue and El Camino Real.

A gasoline station on the corner and space for its eventual expansion were excluded from the city council's "resolution of intent."

City Manager John R. Johnson said the resolution clears the way for further negotiation with the property owners.

"We do not need immediate possession," he said. "The lumber company's lease currently has two years to run. That's just about right, to our way of thinking."

He was referring to the fact that plans for further civic center expansion, which cover the present sanitary district headquarters, should be reaching fruition at about that time.

Although Johnson mentioned no price at this point, the city has set aside $43,000 in the newly-approved capital improvements budget for acquiring a sanitary district headquarters site.

Johnson said that the sanitary district corporation yard will have to be located on the same site where the new headquarters will be built. The Ravenswood-El Camino property appears to fulfill this requirement for space and access, he said.

Johnson said he was assisted in the search for available property by David Ingram, local real estate appraiser.

The city has already acquired a part of the sanitary district's civic center land. It's a part of the site for the new community activities building now under construction.

In return for city purchase of a new site, the district will turn over the rest of its civic center land.

The capital improvements budget approved by the council Tuesday covers a variety of projects already informally approved by the council in previous study meetings.

City Manager John R. Johnson has estimated sales tax income of $29,000. Cash balance as of June 30, 1962, was $51,607.87. Thus, estimated cash available was $341,607.87.

From this amount, is subtracted $20,843.75 pledged to retirement of recreation, civic center, park and libary bonds, $107,662.50 pledged to the city's general fund. This left $213,101.62 available for the capital improvements budget.

The budget presented by Johnson totaled $179,250, leaving a cash balance estimate of $33,851.62.

Included in it are such varying capital improvements as purchase of library books, acquiring more of the Sharon Park site, contribution to the city's off-street parking program, a variety of recreation projects, and contributions to neighborhood improvement projects, among others.

The council also gave its support to San Mateo County plans for the first phase of improvement of police and civil defense communications.

Johnson explained that the county plans to install a central communications setup in the new courthouse. With the help of booster stations along Skyline Boulevard, this new facility will be able to broadcast to most of the county emergency units.

Councilmen also reappointed several city commission members to new terms. They are Mrs. Evelyn Bennet, library board of trustees; John Caffet, water commission; Kenneth Cooperrider, planning commission; and Charles Marsh, personnel board.

Mayor William R. Lawson noted that he was not ready to make any recommendations on filling the planning commission vacancy left by Art Stadler's resignation and the water commission post vacated by the resignation of James Stepp.

Mothers March Is Readied For Tuesday

The vital Mothers March phase of the 1963 "Silver Anniversary" March of Dimes campaign now drawing to successful conclusion is being held in Menlo Park and vicinity and through the county this coming Tuesday evening, it was announced this week.

Mrs. W. L. Thompson of 222 Polhemus Ave. in Atherton is chairman for the Mothe Mothers March in the Menlo Park - Atherton - East Palo Alto areas this year and local leaders urged volunteers to ring doorbells the evening of Jan. 29 to "pick up donations to our 25th anniversary March of Dimes campaign now."

Her co-chairman is Mrs. Marjorie Nystrom of 840 Monte Rosa Drive in Menlo Park.

The Mothers March each year has brought in at least half of the total March of Dimes contributions in this county, these leaders said, and expressed conviction that the 1963 campaign would do it again.

The campaigns, held each January since 1938, have resulted in both the Salk and now the Sabin oral polio vaccine, practically eliminating this dread disease, it was disclosed. Hence, the March of Dimes now is concentrating on both birth defects and arthritis, as well as polio, in a renewed effort through research to "do a polio" on these cripplers, too.

The 1963 campaign marking the 25th anniversary closes offically Jan. 31. However, local leaders urged that "anyone desiring to contribute after that date or maybe hold a special benefit March of Dimes event, may certainly do so now."

Portola Valley Asks PA Delay

Palo Alto's planning commission today has received a request to be more neighborly in actions affecting Portola Valley.

The commission received a letter yesterday from attorney Myron Alexander, new president of the Portola Valley Assn., asking that it mark time on a proposed preliminary general plan for Palo Alto's foothill area.

Alexander said yesterday he would also urge the San Mateo County Planning Commission to add its voice to the request.

The plan is seen as a move to urbanize Palo Alto's Arastadero Road area, which adjoins Portola Valley. The Portola Valley Assn. is against such actions in view of a new county master plan study to cover the valley.

Concurrent with Alexander's request was the announcement from Hare, Brewer and Kelley, Inc., property development firm that it had formed "unique research and planning department to intensively study the rapidly expanding Mid-Peninsula area."

Purpose of the new department is to comprehensively study, for the first time, all factors affecting land use and values in the increasingly well-defined and complex sub-regional area between San Mateo and San Jose.

AEC Contract Is Signed With PG and E

The Atomic Energy Commission has entered into a 10-year contract with Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) for the supply of electric power to the Commission-owned Stanford Linear Accelerator under construction on land leased from Stanford University at Palo Alto, California.

The accelerator is scheduled to start operations in 1967.

To provide the capacity and reliability required for transmission of these requirements, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company will construct a 220 KV transmission line from the company's proposed Jefferson-Monte Vista 220 KV transmission line.

The firm power, which must be available at all times to supply the project's critical loads and normal lighting requirements, will be supplied by allocation from the Bureau of Reclamation and from Pacific Gas and Electric Company sources.

Aged EPA Farm Buildings Burn

Some chicken houses at 842 Green St. — relics of the days when East Palo Alto was a poultry and egg center — caught fire Saturday morning, Menlo Park Fire District firemen reported.

Traffic Safety:

50-mph Limit Seen as Okay For Most of Sand Hill Road

Dividing marks between east and westbound lanes on Sand Hill Road will be extended and lighting will be improved in the vicinity of Monte Rosa Drive, but there won't be any changes in the speed limits along most parts of the street.

This was the decision made last week by the Menlo Park traffic safety commission.

Members of the board came to it after studying results of a police traffic survey which showed that a 50 mile per hour median speed was apparently the median speed along much of the thoroughfare, for most motorists. That's the posted speed limit in the areas in question.

There is, however, a 35-mile-per-hour zone near the Monte Rosa intersection.

The police department had suggested that a traffic dividing island at the Monte Rosa intersection be extended but the commissioners agreed they felt the same result could be obtained by lengthening double yellow lines in the vicinity of the island.

Lighting for the section is being installed.

Concerning another nearby traffic problem, the commissioners continued, as an item on their agenda, a study of possible new signals in the Sand Hill-Junipero Serra-Santa Cruz Avenue-Alpine Road area.

The item is being held up pending the April, 1963, city and county streets and highways bond issue.

The commissioners also heard a report on traffic counts in the vicinity of Middlefield Road intersections with Ravenswood and Ringwood avenues and Linfield Drive.

They said the counts were not complete, and asked for more information.

REJECTED

Requests of Sharon Heights area residents for stop signs on Monte Rosa Drive at Continental and Loma Prieta drives were rejected.

Commissioners reiterated their feeling that stop signs should not be used as a method of reducing speeds.

A request that a "no parking" zone be established on the northerly side of Bohannon Drive in the vicinity of a service station near Marsh Road be established, was okayed by the board. This will allow two lanes of traffic to exit onto Marsh Road during peak traffic hours.

Boy, 12, Hurt When Bike Is Hit by Car

A 12-year-old boy injured when he apparently turned his bicycle in front of a moving auto on Santa Cruz Avenue Tuesday afternoon, was described as being in "satisfactory" condition yesterday at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital.

The lad, Joseph Tresidder, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tresidder of 800 Hobart St., suffered a broken left arm when he was thrown through the windshield of a car driven by George Joseph Borg, 182 El Camino Real in Atherton. The accident occurred just west of Arbor Road.

Borg told police he was eastbound at the time of the crash. He was traveling at 20 to 25 miles per hour, he said.

Besides the fractured arm, young Tresidder, a pupil at Oak Knoll school, suffered lacerations and abrasions.

Dog Was English:

'Master's Voice' is Local

The original oil painting of "His Master's Voice" — world famous trademark of RCA Victor — was in Menlo Park last week as part of a man's tribute to his father.

The man is Eldridge A. Douglass of 40 Barbara Lane. His father, Leon Douglass, was the inventor of the spring motor and other devices that revolutionized the phonograph industry.

And the renowned fox terrier and vintage talking machine? Well, it seems the original sketch done by an Englishman was rejected on first presentation.

"An English phonograph manufacturer refused to buy it because he considered the dog an insult to his product," Douglass informed us.

The American firm which later became RCA Victor snapped it up for $2500 and agreed to pay the Englishman $5000 per year for the rest of his life.

The oil painting based on the sepia sketch is owned by Douglass' sister-in-law in San Francisco, and was in Menlo Park last week for its second public showing in 62 years. Douglass included it and a 1912 model phonograph in a special program on sound recording before the Menlo Park Lions Club.

BACKGROUND

In backgrounding his tribute to an inventive father, Douglass recalled the circumstances leading to the famous wind-up Victrola:

The senior Douglass was a young man living near Lincoln, Neb., when he began to work on the spring motor. His idea was to save trips to town for new storage batteries used in Edison's electric motor model.

Thomas Edison flatly rejected the spring motor on first glance. He told young Douglass that it wouldn't be practical in mass production.

"Grindorgan Doug, where's your monkey?" Edison quipped.

But the eventual success of the wind-up led him to say: "The tail is wagging the dog!"

Douglass went on to become co-founder of the Victor Talking Machine Co., predecessor of RCA Victor. But not all of his work was confined to the recording field.

During his years in San Rafael and Menlo Park, the versatile Douglass pioneered in the making of color motion pictures and developed the first automatic cigarette lighter. On his death in 1940, he had accumulated some 50 patents on his inventions.

AN OPINION

Ironically, famed film director Cecil B. DeMille once told Douglass that his color would detract from the action in a picture.

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE' . . . . . painting of RCA Victor fame was in Menlo Park last week as part of a a program in memory of Leon Douglass, versatile inventor and co-founder of the firm. Douglass' son, Eldridge, of Menlo Park, shows original oil painting and 1912 model phonograph featured in his talk on the history of the recording field since 1900.

. is notable that Mrs. Wilson reached this ulaimate goal in one year less than is allowed by the rules.

Thomas Fitch, chairman of the Million Dollar Club, made the presentation of the life membership plaque to Mrs. Wilson at a recent installation luncheon of the Board of Realtors.

AWARDS . . . . . . Oil Dealer Opens Station At Stanford

A new Heinecke's Stanford Shell Oil station, operated by Fritz Heinecke of Menlo Park, opened this week at Campus Drive and Serra street on Stanford campus.

It replaces a former Heinecke's Shell station at Embarcadera Road and El Camino Real in Palo Alto, removed to allow highway widening.

The dealership was opened by the younger Heinecke's father the late Walt Heinecke, a long-time resident of Menlo Park, and All-American center for Stanford's 1928 football team, and a member of Stanford's athletic Hall of Fame.

The oil company dealer's mother was one of the first nurses to work at the Childrens' Health Council Facility at Stanford on a volunteer basis; the older Heinecke played Santa Claus there during the appropriate season prior to his death.

Fritz himself is a Stanford graduate. He attended Menlo College before entering Stanford.

Equipment for the new station was supplied by the P. L. Badt Company.

Redwood City Tot Dies Here

Graveside funeral services were held Tuesday at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno for Roger O. Baker, 2½-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Baker of Redwood City, who died at the home of a baby-sitter here Friday.

The baby apparently succumbed to infant pneumonia, according to Menlo Park Fire District firemen, who were called to the home of Mrs. Sheila Lopez, 2493 Gonzaga Ave., at 9:17 a.m.

The child was pronounced dead after being taken to Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital.

Roller and Hapgood, funeral directors with offices at 980 Middlefield Road in Palo Alto, were in charge of burial arrangements.

In Journal:

Classroom Newspaper's Value Seen by Teacher at Hillview

The publication of a newspaper in a fifth grade classroom is a valuable tool in the enrichment of the English language program, a Menlo Park teacher writes in a professional journal.

The article, titled, "A Fifth Grade Publishes a Newspaper," appears in the January issue of "Elementary English," a publication of the National Council of Teachers of English. It was written by Mrs. Marjorie Lake, fifth grade teacher at Hillview school.

Some of the advantages of teaching English via newspaper preparation include the fact that it accents correct spelling, makes punctuation meaningful, places emphasis on verbs when headlines are written and encourages use of the dictionary.

Other effects, Mrs. Lake writes, include the facts that pupils do more reading because they're looking for factual material to use in their articles, and that the work involves criticism, analogy and interpretation.

Conceding that most English teachers have limited journalism backgrounds, Mrs. Lake adds that there are definite advantages which can be evaluated.

"When children write not just for the teacher, but for the possible publication and consumption of fellow pupils, they are motivated to a high degree.

"When they summarize a class trip to the zoo, they are writing for an audience many of whom did not know the class went there until they read about it in the school paper.

'VALUABLE'

"Therefore the finished paper is a valuable reading experience for all who can read it. They read about friends and acquaintances, the topics are within their understanding and the difficulty generally appropriate to their reading abilities."

Mrs. Lake's article goes on to point out that under these circumstances the newspaper staff will strive for clarity, coherence and correct punctuation.

"The school paper may do much to unify the school. Minor problems may be handled by democratic expression of opinion in the school paper. School events are not forgotten or neglected when given proper publicity," the article continues.

School newspapers also can be used to acquaint youngsters with opportunities outside of the school, such as programs at parks, libraries and recreation centers, Mrs. Lake's article adds.

But again she warns:

"The school newspaper may be used as a means of communication by the administrators, but this should be second in importance and their articles should not appear on front pages. The school which publishes a newspaper to impress outsiders, community leaders or boards of education usually fails with the children.

"Childrens' writings should come first in importance."

'Spanking' Is Backed In Portola

The Portola Valley Elementary School Board Tuesday night adopted a policy which permits corporal punishment for the first time in its district.

The board by a 3-2 vote agreed that a school principal may spank a child in the presence of a certified witness, such as a teacher, and with the prior consent of the parents.

The policy statement stipulated that a broad, flat paddle be used in such disciplinary action.

Mrs. Mary Myser and Board Chairman Dr. Milton Flocks abstained in the voting. Mrs. Myser stated she is definitely against corporal punishment in schools and Dr. Flocks explained that such punishment need not be written out in policy form and expressed more moderate misgivings as to its need.

Rape Suspect Pleads Guilty; Sentence Near

William J. Bocquoy, 38, one-time Nevada state highway patrolman, last week pleaded guilty to the Nov. 14 rape of a Menlo Park housewife. Sentencing was set for Jan. 30, following receipt of a report from the probation department.

The trial, conducted before Superior Court Judge James T. O'Keefe, featured the withdrawal of a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity after three psychiatrists submitted conflicting reports on Bocquoy's mental condition.

Bocquoy was arrested a short time after the rape, after he had turned over a laundry truck which he was driving, in Portola Valley. In the truck were found several items of jewelry reported taken from a home in unincorporated area west of Menlo Park and so he was charged with burglary as well as rape.

Of the three psychiatrists to testify, one told the court that Bocquoy was sane at the time of the offense but too drunk to have a clear memory of the incident.

Another said he was insane at the time, but sane now.

The third said Bocquoy was sane at the time but now needs psychiatric treatment.

Korea Dancers To Appear At LDS Church

The Korean Classical Dance Troupe, whose dedicated dancers and instrumentalists represent the finest performers in Korea, will appear in open concert at 8 p.m., Jan. 25, at the Palo Alto Stake center of the LDS church, 1105 Valparaiso Ave., Menlo Park.

The troupe was approved by the acting president of Korea, General Chung Hee Park, after each specialist passed rigorous competition to qualify as performing ambassadors from Korea to the people of the United States.

Among the charming dancers is the newest Asian fascinator, Miss Pun Jae Kim, a 15-year-old ingenue whose "rhythmic virtuosity is worthy of our best jazz musicians," and who beats nine drums while she dances to a frenzied beat.

The purpose of the 13 member group is to build up the Korean "May 16 Scholarship Fund" to aid needy students in completing their college education in Korea and in leading colleges outside the country with the express purpose of gaining the proper insight into democratic schooling and government. May 16 marks the beginning of Korean freedom and is celebrated much like America's July 4th.

Local Firms Build Office

Janssen, Daseking and Keller, Menlo Park arcritectural firm, has been retained to draw plans for a 16,000-square-foot facility in Sunnyvale, for Mark Systems, Inc.

Finished cost of the facility will exceed $50,000; it will be ready for occupany April 1, according to Consolidated Developments Corporation, also of Menlo Park, the builder.

The firm specializes in the development of advanced electro-photo-optical products.

Two area men are involved in the authorship of a technical paper, to be presented in New York City Jan. 31 at the winter general meeting of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

Maurice L. Kebby of Portola Valley and Alan C. Walker of Ladera are the writers of the paper, which concerns itself with microwave radio.

These Visiting Firemen Are Really Students

The Menlo Park Fire District, which serves Menlo Park, East Palo Alto and Atherton, is also the center of study for fire prevention officers from San Jose to South San Francisco.

Now under way at the fire district headquarters on Middlefield Road in Menlo Park is the second annual fire prevention seminar.

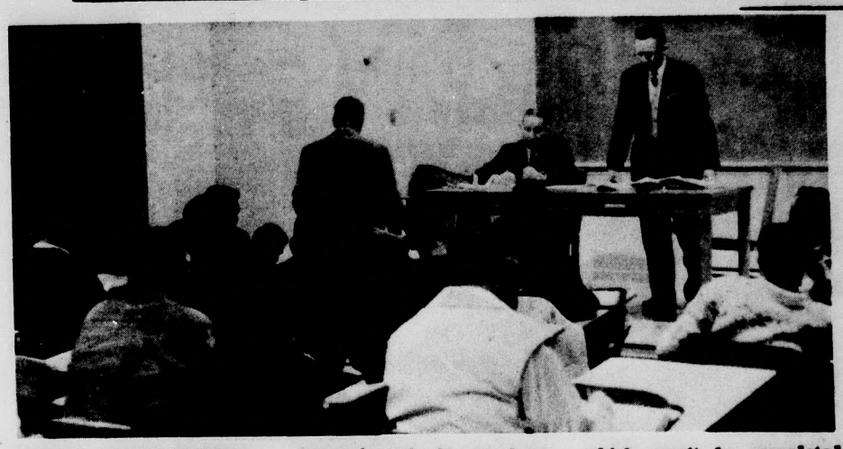

It's sponsored by the Peninsula Fire Chiefs' Association — of which Menlo Park district Chief George Carter is president.

The first seminar meeting was held in October and it'll continue through April of this year.

The sessions are held twice each month on Thursday evenings. Fire department officials are studying a variety of topics.

They include courses covering flame spread and fire retardant materials, state and local safety regulations, fire insurance adjustments, automatic sprinkler and fire control systems and plastics used in construction and industry.

The visiting firemen also study about the scientific and industrial developments leading to new chemicals and materials which present new problems in the suppression and control of fires.

Christian Science Church Topic

"Truth" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon this Sunday at First Church of Christ Scientist, Menlo Park, and at all Christian Science churches.

The text is from Psalms: "Thou art the God of my strength . . . O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me; let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles."

Readings will include this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The thunder of Sinai and the Sermon on the Mount are pursuing and will overtake the ages, rebuking in their course all error and proclaiming the kingdom of heaven on earth. Truth is revealed. It needs only to be practised."

All are welcome to attend this service at the Christian Science Church, 201 Ravenswood Ave., Menlo Park. Child care for children up to six years of age is provided and ample parking space is available.

Area Dentists To Attend Meet

Eleven area dentists, all University of California college of dentistry alumni, are among the 14,000 dentists invited to attend the 67th annual scientific meeting of the University of California Dental Alumni Association.

The meet will be held Jan. 27 and 28 in San Francisco.

Local dentists who are eligible to attend the affair include Doctors Unter C. Doi, Max Forsythe, Seymore Gray, Harold Holmberg, W. Dale Lazier, Robert M. Leggett, Calvin Pattee, Robert W. Rule Jr., Alfred Schuchard, Kenneth Soelberg and Linus C. Fitzgerald.

Henry Wilson Gets New Post With His Firm

Henry R. Wilson of Atherton, west coast district manager for F. W. Woolworth Co., whose headquarters are situated in Burlingame, has received notification of his appointment as vice president in charge of self-service operation and expense in the company's New York headquarters.

Wilson will leave to take over his new duties approximately Feb. 1.

Wilson, who resides at 301 Stevick Drive, is a veteran of 40 years with the Woolworth company, 12 of which have been spent in the company's west coast district headquarters.

He joined the firm as a part-time employee in Corsicana, Texas, and worked in other Woolworth stores in that state for many years. In 1930 he was appointed manager of Woolworth's Yuma, Ariz., store and in subsequent years managed other stores for the firm.

Unsung Volunteers Staff School Libraries

. . . Willow School card-file gets a workout.

Parents Pitch In— Share The Work

Does the typical Parent-Teacher Association unit consist of a coterie of "wheel-spinning" females who form committees to investigate forming other committees?

This indictment is made with a certain amount of regularity and has cropped up again in a school district near here.

Those who support this view will find Ravenswood City School District officials hard to convince, however.

You see, PTA volunteers have stepped in to do a job — that of staffing the elementary school libraries — which is of great value to the district.

In some schools, the PTA volunteers have been active for some time. In others, they've just started this school year. Only one elementary school does not now have these aides. And at O'Connor School, it's the Parents Club that does the job.

Supt. of Schools Roderic V. Moore explained that the district would indeed like to have full-time librarians and adequate library space at all elementary schools. At this time, only the three seventh-eighth grade schools have librarians and full-scale libraries.

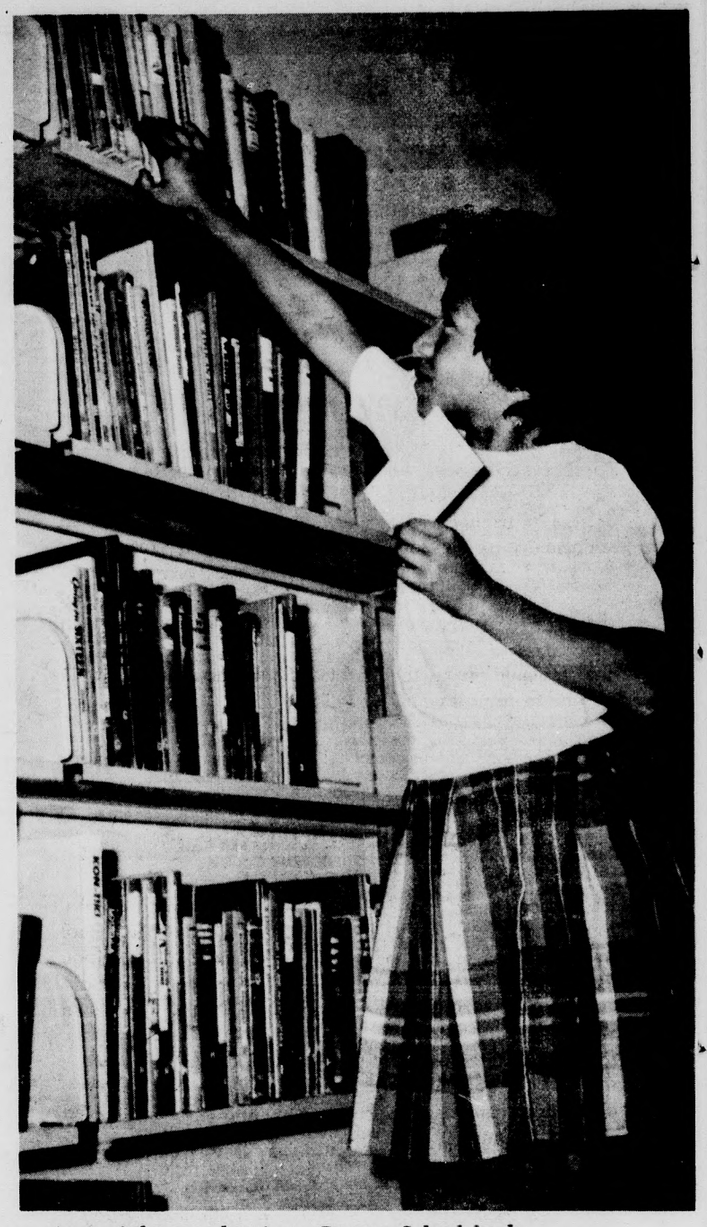

However, the administration and school board feels they must solve the big problem of housing students before they can turn to the library question.

In the interim, the ladies of the PTA (and Parents Club) are doing their part to help out. Mrs. Dorothy Bickett, library coordinator for the district, oversees the stocking of books and generally supervises the system.

At most of the schools where parents help, a volunteer group chairman organizes the aides and sets up the working hours.

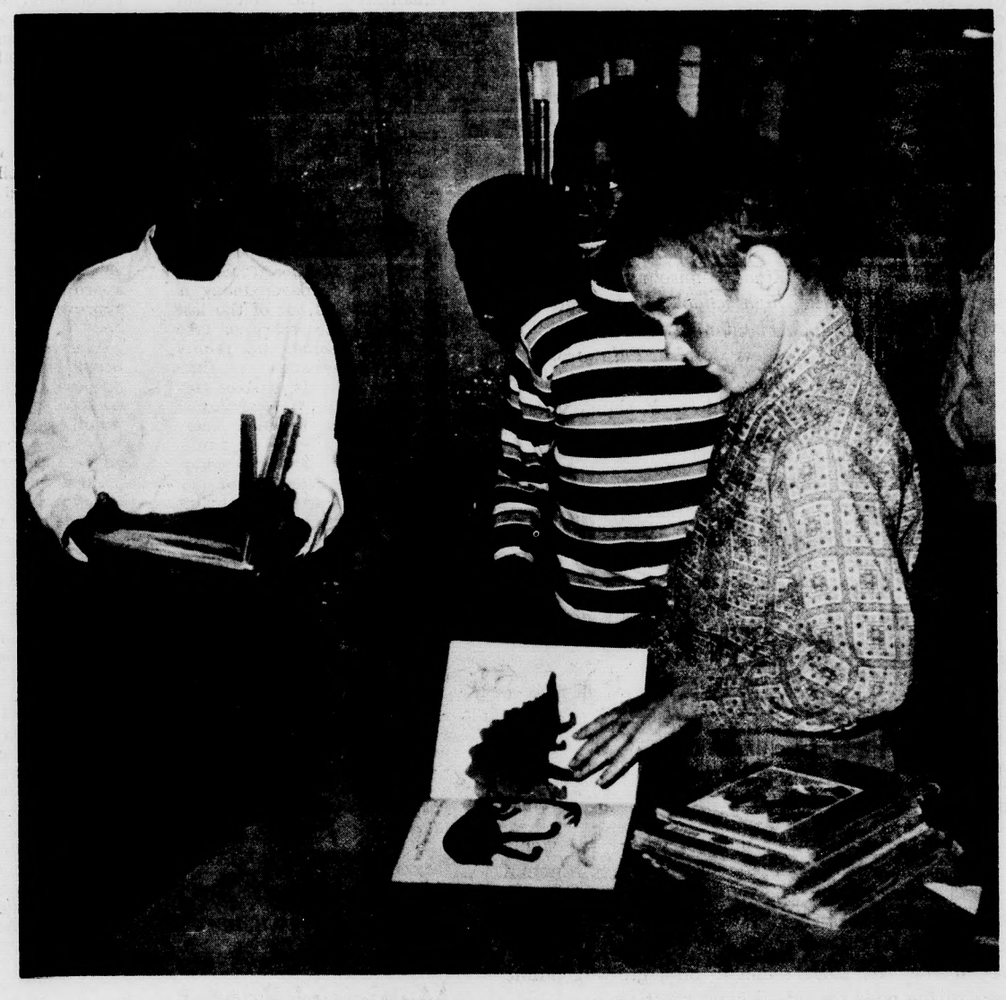

At Costano School, which began the program this year, eight women share the duty at the 2,700 volume library. The Willow School program has 15 regular aides and four substitutes, all under the direction of Mrs. Rose Butera. There, 5,000 books were circulated last year.

Wheel-spinning? Not by a long shot.

+ LET'S TALK IT OVER: A PAGE FOR OPINIONS --OURS, YOURS and OTHERS'-- +

As We See It:

Rather a Little Sorry Than Altogether Safe

It hasn't happened thus far this winter but about once a year, a "major storm" strikes the area and several large limbs from some of the area's ancient oaks and other trees go crashing into the street.

Some trees also, assuredly, fall on private property. But these don't get into the public record; the householder usually spends a few weekends sawing up the debris and nothing is said about it.

When a large limb falls on a public street, though, there's apt to be an outcry. The public safety is jeopardized. There are those who will complain that trees which are on private grounds but in a position to fall onto a street be drastically trimmed. There are others happily awaiting an opportunity to "sue somebody" if they happen to run their cars into a downed limb on the public right of way.

The final, all-inclusive answer to such complainers and would-be plaintiffs would be to cut down all the trees in town.

It would make the streets as safe as all get out, in relation to storm-caused hazards.

It wouldn't make the town any prettier, however.

We hope the drastic alternative to things as they are is never taken.

Sequoia Board Could Have Made Boundary Decision

In a recent editorial, we stated that we would reserve the right to comment upon the Sequoia Union High School District board of trustees' final attendance area decision after it had been made.

We felt it would be presumptious to state our own opinions before that time.

At this point, that feeling is unchanged. But we would like to comment now on the board's indecision.

As you know, the trustees, by a 3-2 vote, delayed drawing up final attendance areas for two months.

We think the decision was a mistake and will work a hardship on parents, children, teachers and counselors.

The cries of improvement groups for more study time had been heeded before. It would seem that they'd had plenty of that commodity—this topic has been debated for months and months.

The only legitimate cry for time was heard from the Menlo Oaks group near Menlo-Atherton High School, which suddenly found itself involved in the compromise plan affecting the Menlo-Atherton and Ravenswood High boundaries.

If this area had not been included in the new plan, the board could have logically answered protestants Thursday night that sufficient time had been given and that they must now make their decision.

The delay will mean that counseling of eighth graders who'll be entering high school will have to be done in hurry-up fashion, beginning in mid-March. Normally this important process starts in February.

Those who have pushed for postponement of a decision, and those board members who voted for it, should realize how they've complicated the high school programming schedule.

We think the logical time for decision had arrived and is now past. Let's hope that the education of high school children hasn't been hampered by the lack of a final decision.

To the new committee formed to represent the improvement groups involved, we wish all success in coming to terms on the various plans proposed for rearrangement of boundaries.

They have a difficult and perhaps impossible task to complete—within two months.

Safer Highways Will Cost Money

Last year as compared with the year before, the Menlo Park police department recorded a significant reduction in the number of accidents which occurred in the town.

They gave several reasons for this; not the least significant among their reasons for a lower accident rate was the fact that, at long last, there seems to be a growing public awareness of the need for safe driving practices.

Public awareness of the hazards which accompany driving, probably, grows in direct relationship to the amount of congestion the individual motorist encounters.

As more and more cars flood the streets and highways, then, motorists become more and more aware of the fact that they're in danger more of the time.

This leads to another observation of the police. Just about everything has been done in the way of law enforcement that can be done, they say; what is done next must be in the realm of engineering, to make our streets and highways safer.

When one talks in terms of making highways safer from the engineering point of view, though, one finds oneself confronted with the same old requirement: Money.

The biggest, most comprehensive plans for improvement of streets and highways before the public at this time is the combined city-county traffic master plan, to be voted on this spring.

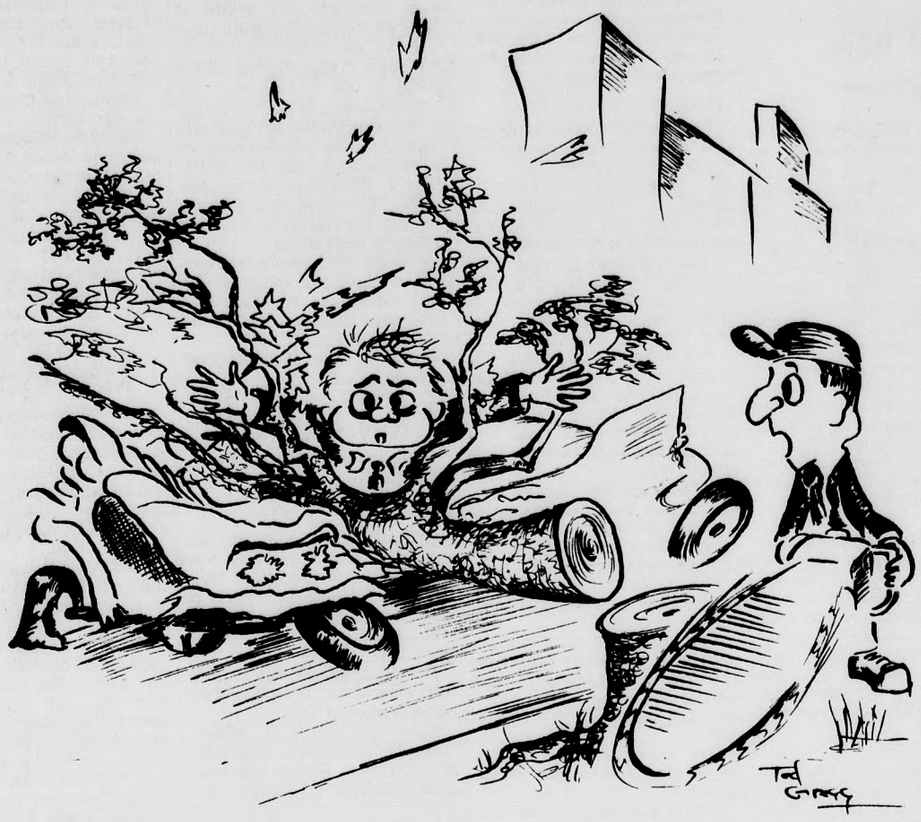

It calls for street improvements over the next three decades which hopefully will at least maintain the level of adequacy of the county's roads.

The city's council and planning commission both have gone on record as approving the master plan.

The adoption of such a master plan makes sense and, if we're all going to drive automobiles, we might as well do it under conditions which are as safe as possible.

But don't get bemused. Safer streets and highways are going to cost money. You'll have to add it in as part of the cost of operating an automobile.

Solving the Problem?

County Comment:

View State Lottery Plan

By FLOYD F. McCUE
Editor and Publisher, Redwood City Star Tribune

George R. Reilly, representative of the Central Coast counties on the State Board of Equalization, has come out with a cure-all for the mounting cost of state government.

Long an advocate — in a mild way—of a state lottery, he now proposes that a bill be introduced in the state legislature this year to that effect. Reilly also has some other opinions that you may or may not agree with, but we will admit that his approach to the entire picture is a strange one.

The long-time board member says: "The taxpayer today is being squeezed out of the last few dollars necessary to take care of personal and family needs. Businessmen are finding that the costs of state government, plus the additional federal taxes imposed upon them, have become so explosive that they begin to wonder whether the economy of our country can stand these strains . . . The inflationary high valuation of merchandise and personal property will, if we continue to raise valuations for assessment purposes according to our present laws and inflation, cause a very serious imposition of tax upon our people.

"The home-owner today is confronted with what I consider near-confistication of his property if the tax rate continues to soar. We are unconsciously taxing ourselves out of all proportion to sound reasonings!"

Few of us will have any argument with these facts; in a manner of speaking we have known of the dangers for some years.

Reilly makes some direct recommendations: 1. Cut down the costs of state and municipal government. (This is where the lottery bill is supposed to be the answer.) 2. Discontinue the "give away" of taxpayers' funds by our federal government in the field of foreign aid, which now costs close to six billion dollars annually. He wants the aid money to go out as a loan, which makes sense. 3. "The people in each county of our state should by their votes express approval or disapproval of the anual budget approved by their law-making body."

You can imagine how the people would react to such a proposal. Soon we would have no local government. Services would be cut to a point where even the schools might not be able to operate. This proposal is no more logical at the local level than it would be for the voters of the United States to decide how much the federal budget would be, even though we may all agree it is too high. Reilly is apparently reaching for something here, but we can't find the logic.

"We should study the various reasons for raising taxes to pay our explosive and mounting bills and consider paying them from a source of revenue that in my opinion will bring into the state treasury between five and eight hundred million dollars a year."

This is where the state lottery rises again. He goes on: "I am certain that my suggestion for a California Sweepstakes Lottery for revenue raising purposes is the answer to our problem . . . I am not organizing a crusade against gambling — I am simply giving expression to a problem that honest people seem to fear and that those who are now enjoying the special privileges and profits of legalized gambling in California and Nevada will fight."

He points to legalized card games and horse racing as two examples. He points out that sweepstakes tickets from other countries are mailed to people in the United States and even suggests that "in all of our larger cities stock and bond exchanges and state mining exchanges certainly present a method of investment by gambling."

Reilly could have presented several other methods of gambling. One of the most important is the chance we take every time we get into our car or walk through crowded intersections. The cost of lives and property damage is enough to cut the state budget to a sensible level.

The idea that legalized gambling is the answer is so old it has whiskers.

For the most part, the people who could afford to buy lottery tickets would know that the chances are too great to win.

The people looking for a quick buck are the ones who couldn't afford to play, but will provide the larger number of customers. No, Reilly, we're afraid you are barking up the wrong tree.

If you can figure some way to cut federal, state and local government spending on a sensible basis, we're all for you — but please, let's forget your proposed legalized gambling bill.

Municipal Report:

Lots of Public Meetings

Persons new to this area gradually become aware that local governmental functions are carried on, largely, by a huge assembly of special districts.

The situation is quite different than in most communities, where such things as fire protection, the disposal of garbage, the operation of the dump, and so forth, are conducted as functions of a single city government.

One of the more confusing results of the multiplicity of service districts is that, in a community such as Menlo Park, three or four different tax rates may be levied.

Residents of incorporated Menlo Park who also reside in the Ravenswood School District pay more than residents of Menlo Park who reside in the Menlo Park Elementary School District, on the basis of their property valuation.

Another confusing feature results from the fact that it's almost impossible for a newspaper to report the activities of all of the boards, commissions and directorates in a given area; moreover, the actions of some of these governing groups would be of marginal interest to the average reader.

The newspaper's problem is one of simple economics. It would be costly to send paid reporters to all of the meetings and also expensive to print summaries of the actions of all these boards.

A devoted "attender of meetings" in this area could, however, have a fine time.

Starting at the Hall of Justice and Records in Redwood City, such an individual could attend meetings of the county board of supervisors and the planning commission, which oversee things in unincorporated areas near Menlo Park; he could attend the meetings of the boards of trustees of the four school districts which have territory in Menlo Park and Atherton; he could attend a couple of more regular meetings of the school districts serving Portola Valley and Woodside.

Our dedicated "attender of meetings" also could then attend meetings of the Menlo Park Fire District board of trustees, the sanitary district board, the garbage and refuse disposal district governing body, the high school district board and perhaps also the trustees of the mosqquito abatement district which operates countywide.

Our enthusiast might get around to attending the meetings of the Menlo Park and Atherton city councils—as well as that of Woodside. He might attend planning commission meetings in these towns also.

But if he still doesn't feel that he's getting all the information about government that he needs in order to satisfy his whim, he can attend also meetings of such advisory groups as the Menlo Park recreation, water, traffic safety and library commissions.

Just a listing of the groups that meet indicates a happy condition: There are hundreds of people in the south

CASE FOR THE WILLOWS

Editor, the Recorder:

As everyone is aware, the Sequoia Union High School Board of Trustees, at its January 17 meeting, voted to suspend any decision on high school redistricting between Menlo-Atherton and Ravenswood High Schools for 60 days, pending further study by the people in the areas affected. Although the Willows Association did not favor any delay in making a decision, the delay may help to increase the community understanding of the complex problems involved and will hopefully lead to a generally acceptable solution. It should be noted that since the original decision by the Board in April, 1962, the entire community has shown more awareness of the problems involved and has demonstrated its willingness to deal directly and effectively with them.

The Willows Association has been working for many months on possible solutions to the difficulties created by over-crowding at Woodside High School and under-capacity student enrollment at Ravenswood High School. It has been our position and still is our position, that the Willows proposal, with possible modifications, offers the only permanent solution. In essence, the Willows proposal contemplated a shift in student population between Ravenswood and Menlo-Atherton High Schools sufficient to equalize the two schools in the areas of ethnic balance and educational opportunity. Such a shift will also solve the over-crowding problems at Woodside by accommodating these students at Menlo-Atherton.

The Board of Trustees has decided that equal ethnic balance between the two schools is essential in order to assure equal educational opportunity for our children. We are confident that this concept will gain increasing acceptance in the District during the 60-day study period. Any new plan which may be presented must insure equal educational opportunity and equal ethnic balance between these two schools, and should insure, insofar as possible, that this equality will continue into the future.

The Willows Association will continue to work closely with other groups and individuals and with the Board in order to resolve this conflict and to restore harmony to the District.

Sincerely yours,
Addison Janes, President,
Willows Resident Association

IN PORTOLA VALLEY

Editor, the Recorder:

Why don't you newspapers give the people of Portola Valley a chance to sepak for themselves, instead of forever trumpeting the persistent squeaking of a few "little idler wheels" of the Portola Valley Association?

I respectfully suggest that here's a heaven-sent opportunity for enlightened Editors of community-mindeds newspapers, to contribute your force to unify our community in the Future, as well as you have contributed your force sometimes to divide us in our past, in a way that counts; that is, to poll us property owners of Portola Valley, through a simple newspaper-printed, newspaper-tallied, newspaper verified QUESTIONNAIRE:

1. For status-quo (X)
2. For Annexation to Woodside.....
3. For incorporation.....
4. For some other community action to be specified by by the property owner polled.....

If I still have the right, as a citizen of this Republic, to want a little MORE FREEDOM (even that FREEDOM embodied in a name), in preference to a lot more unnecessary government (even more voluntary submergence to pettyfogging rule by Woodside "sticklers"), I surely do wish that you would also find out if a majority of Portola Valley residents would possibly like to consider renaming our valley, as wisely suggested by "Big Louie" Kesich: "FREEDOM VALLEY."

ANSWERS 'LETTER'

Editor, the Recorder:

I am the father of a graduate of Menlo-Atherton High School, a junior at Woodside and an eighth-grader at Oak Knoll, who doesn't know where she will attend high school. I am, therefore, more than interested in the Sequoia High School Boundary dispute. As a matter of fact, I am so interested in it that I have spent the better part of three months attending meetings devoted to this specific issue. I am also one of the West Menlo Citizens who called for the meeting at Burgess Theater in December and helped preside. Therefore, I feel well qualified to answer the letter to the editor printed in last week's Recorder, which referred to the feeling of bigotry present at this assembly, and also the absence of the word "race" in the petition circulated by the Menlo Park High School Boundary Committee and signed by over 2000 West Menlo residents. The following is the portion of the letter to which I am referring:

"Because our children may have to face a different situation, WE ADULTS suddenly cease being apathetic. Many of us have avoided mentioning the word "race" in our forwarding of plans to the Sequoia High School Board. (Yes, I too, signed the petition when it came to my door not realizing what would ensue at the meeting at Burgess in December.)

"But I am ashamed of my community as I felt bigotry present at the meeting. I know many of you felt the same."

Let me state here and now, I am not ashamed of my community, but extremely PROUD of it! The meeting at Burgess was the most orderly, intelligent meeting of its type I have ever attended. Every person who wished to speak was recognized and listened to respectfully and attentively, including a number of representatives from groups that did not agree with our petition.

Now, as to the petition that was signed by 2000 West Menlo residents, this petition was read to the assembled group and it is assumed that all who signed it would read it thoroughly. There was not reference to the word "race" in this petition, because it was the unanimous decision of the people who wrote it that our problem in West Menlo was, and still is, one of distance, transportation and exposure of our children to the number of main traffic thoroughfares to be crossed in order to reach Ravenswood High.

I cannot deny that you will find a small number of bigoted people in attendance at any gathering the size of the Burgess meeting, and possibly the writer of last week's letter found them all and spoke to them. I personally spoke to a good portion of the 300 plus people there, both before and after the meeting, and was particularly gratified at the lack of bigotry present.

In conclusion, I wish to say that with the exception of the references to the Burgess meeting and what our petition did or did not state, I completely agree with the basic thoughts expressed by the writer of last week's letter. I might add that I personally feel and hope the great majority of West Menlo residents do also. My immediate reason for answering it is to correct that which I consider an erroneous impression of what transpired at the Burgess meeting, and what our petition stood for. We certainly have enough problems in this world of ours without creating them where they do not exist.

CONCERN OF ALL

Editor, the Recorder:

The sequence of developments in the Menlo Atherton-Ravenswood high school boundary realignment has provided an interesting example of an unfortunate characteristic so often manifested by the average man in his participation in civic affairs; i. e., "until and unless it somehow affects or threatens me personally, I couldn't care less."

One by one the residents of first the Willow areas, then West Menlo, Linfield Oaks, Menlo Oaks, etc., have organized and protested as the threat of transfer of their children to Ravenswood High School has loomed. For eight months the Willows Residents' Association bore the burden almost alone with only a few words of commiseration from time to time—"sorry it has to happen to you, but someone has to go to help fill up the school." Then others clamored aboard as more inclusive boundary realignment plans were suggested.

Isn't it time now that all of the taxpayers in the Sequoia Union High School District become concerned and demand an intelligent solution to the problem of empty classrooms at Ravenswood. One cannot help but wonder if some members of the School Board are not listening to friends, to business associates, to potential customers, to selfish community leaders—all of whom somehow feel their social status and public image may be affected by the high school their neighborhood children attend.

We have the Ravenswood High School facility built and supported by the taxpayers of the District. We have students aplenty to fill it to planned capacity of 1650 and in doing so very simply make it comparable academically, socio-economically and ethnically to the other high schools in Sequoia District. How can any thinking taxpayer, conscientious voter or reasonable parent who has taken but a few minutes to consider the facts permit our elected representatives on the Sequoia School Board to make any decision except one that provides for a permanent solution to the problems at Ravenswood and that corrects past mistakes as much as possible and ensures full use of all the buildings and facilities in the Sequoia High School District.

county area who are sufficiently concerned and responsible to help shoulder the load that makes democratic government work.

Most of them spend scores of hours a year and serve without pay, so the average citizen can enjoy the benefits of a complex social organization.

But even so most people — though not indifferent to the good works of the volunteers— would rather have some central "city hall" to which they could refer when describing government here, or acknowledging a municipal-type service.

How did all the districts come to be formed? How come they're not under "city government?"

It's a fairly long story and it has its beginnings with the start of county history. Those services which were needed first, were the first ones to be established; such embellishments as street work and a city police department weren't needed and nobody gave much thought to them.

Schools, of course, were needed first. The entire south county was in a single school district at one time, before 1880.

Police were considered necessary when the county organization was established in 1857. There was a constable appointed for the south county at that time.

Remember: The population of the south county was thin and scattered in those days.

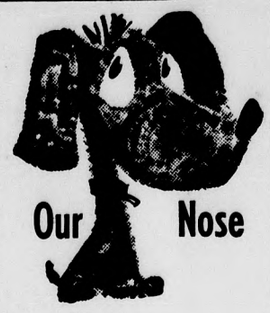

It wasn't until near the turn of the century that there were enough people around to make a volunteer fire department seem like a good idea.

A privately-owned water system was established at about the same time for Menlo Park. (There was probably a connection between the creation of an effective fire-fighting organization and the establishment of an adequate water supply for it to use in emergencies.)

Other districts have been added since as the need for them has arisen. Hence, the garbage and refuse disposal district is only a few years old.

Other special districts may be added in the future.

At this point, it doesn't seem that there's much to hope for in the way of consolidation of most of these agencies, either.

Recently the Japanese marketed a 5-inch-screen television set. Now, according to the quarterly, "Trade With Japan," they've put out a video tape recorder on about the same scale. So you can not only take your television set, but your favorite old program, along with you wherever you go.

The "coffee break," considered sacred in many places, is being abandoned in at least one eastern factory.

According to Elwood Williams of the Menlo Park School District board, the managers of this particular manufacturing establishment took the trouble to read the electric meters in the basement.

Naturally, the use of electricity throughout the plant declined sharply when the coffee break started.

Then, the managers noted, it took a total of 40 minutes before use of electricity built up to peak load again.

So the coffee break was eliminated, and the electricity meters register peak loads for four hours at a time.

The late Billy Noonan, editor of the Baudette (Minn.) Region and one of the last of a variety of writers known as "paragraphers," once contributed these thoughts:

"In Egypt a plate over the door means that there is a marriageable daughter in the house. In the U.S., honking a horn in front of the house means the same thing."

"The U.S. has thousands of working girls and other thousands just working men."

And one before-Christmas week he wrote:

"Baudette certainly has a nice collection of well-behaved children this week."

One hundred fifteenth anniversary of discovery of gold will be observed in Coloma Jan. 26 and 27 and much of the festivity will be under the aegis of E. Clampus Vitus.

Those new to California might not be aware of this organization, which has been described as, "an historic drinking society" or "a drinking historical society."

But the organization has a vocabulary all of its own. To quote the Placerville "Mountain Democrat":

"The celebration will get under way Saturday when the Ancient and Honorable Order of E. Clampus Vitus opens the celebration with a parade down Main Street of Coloma at approximately 3:30 p.m. The Noble Grand Humbug will sound the Hewgag for ceremonies about 4:30 p.m. when 50 Poor Blind Candidates will be conducted by the Wrecking Crew."

The assessed valuation of the district, which includes Menlo Park, Atherton, East Palo Alto, Ravenswood North Palo Alto part of North Fair Oaks and all intervening territory, is $10,698,485.

Within the fire district limits, 351 new buildings were constructed during the year and 12 buildings constituting fire hazards were demolished.

Twelve hundred feet of hose purchased.

He was a graduate of the University of Indiana and an Air Force veteran of World War II. The Pacific Coast manager for the Nielsen company, he was a member of the American Marketing Association, the San Francisco Advertising Club, and the Palo Alto Hills Golf and Country Club.

Sunrvivors include his wife, Bettye, of Menlo Park; a daughter, Kristine, of Menlo Park, and a son, Barrett Lindsey, now attending DePauw University. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lindsey of Lowantville, Indiana, also survive.

Funeral services were conducted from the chapel of Roller and Hapgood, 980 Middlefield Road in Palo Alto. Entombment was at Alta Mesa Memorial Park.

William Forsythe

Funeral services were still pending yesterday for William Miller Forsythe, 67, found dead at his home here Monday afternoon. Police, who found the body, said he had apparently been dead more than a month.

Forsythe was a retired Southern Pacific railroad employee.

Police decided to account for his whereabouts after a mail carrier reported he hadn't picked up his mail for more than a month; a check with the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco indicated he'd been an out-patient there, but had not appeared for a scheduled operation on Jan. 3.

He is survived by a niece, Miss Margaret Forsythe of British Columbia.

Sequoia District Alters Courses For Graduation

Science and English requirements for graduation have been changed in the Sequoia High School District.

The changes were approved recently by the district's board of trustees; they were first recommended by appropriate faculty committees and the administration.

According to the newly-approved requirements, a student may take a single year of science to graduate from high school and that course may be taken during any of the four years.

Previously, it was required that science be taken either in grade 10, 11 or 12. Names of the courses also have been changed.

There will be group divisions for fast, average and slower students also, under the new program.

The district also moved to change the English requirement from four years of English to three years. Six elective courses, however, will continue to be offered to seniors in schools of the district.

Dr. Ross Headley:

Former Woodside Teacher Views German Education

A local boy who made good returned to Woodside over the weekend to tell of exciting things in West German education.

Dr. Ross Headley, former teacher at the Woodside Elementary School, was in the Bay Area to help recruit teachers for U.S. dependents' schools in Europe and the Orient. The 41-year-old educator is director of research for dependents' schools in Germany, France, Itatly and Ethiopia.

"The German - American Elementary School in West Berlin is the most exciting thing I've seen in education to date," Dr. Headley declared while visiting the Ed-Edward G. Russell home in Woodside.

He explained that the school includes both German and American teachers and students and that all classes are bilingual.

"The English-speaking students are taught exclusively in German and the German-speaking in English," he said.

But more important, Dr. Headley says, is the school's progress in breaking down the traditional German attitude toward student discipline. Maintaining control without "pulling rank" is more common now — largely because many of the school's German teachers have taught in U.S. schools.

Dr. Headley rose swiftly to the important post which oversees the more than 150 elementary, junior high and senior high schools in Europe and Africa. After leaving Woodside in 1956, he took his doctorate in education administration at Columbia University, later served as assistant to the superintendent of the West Hempstead (L.I) public schools.

He has observed and evaluated the U.S. dependents' school program since the summer of 1961. His base of operations is Karlsuhe, Germany.

Last spring the former Woodside teacher journeyed to West Berlin for a rare opportunity. On invitation of the U.S. State Department, he described America's elementary education program to a gathering of West German educators.

Of the Berlin wall, Dr. Headley commented thoughtfully:

"It's an emotion, not a material thing."

For his Woodside friends, he said he's contemplating a return to California to teach during the 1963-64 school year.

Math Authority Speaks Here

The program was open to administrators, curriculum consultants, and teachers from San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Professor Wirtz is senior author of the workshop and is now on tour describing the program.

'Project M' Scientists Figure On Moving to MP in 14 Months

Scienists building the world's biggest instrument for basic research, Stanford University's two-mile linear electron accelerator, will move into the first building located on the accelerator site next March.

Dr. Richard B. Neal, associate director of the project and head of its technical division, said exacavation for the accelerator's underground housing began this month and installation of the first accelerator components should commence approximately 14 months from now.

Completion of the $114,000,000 atom smasher is scheduled for 1966. Full-scale research operation is expected one year later. The project is being financed under a contract with the U. S. Atomic Eneregy Commission.

Dr. Neal made his progress report on the new Stanford Linear Accelerator Center at a joint meeting of the American Physical Society and the American Association of Physics Teachers in New York City.

"Work at the accelerator site, about two miles from the Stanford campus, is well under way," said Dr. Neal. "Initial site work consists of road construction, preliminary excavation and earthwork, initial utilities, and the first two major buildings.

"After occupancy of the first building, the test laboratory, in March, the schedule calls for completion of the first 333-foot sector of the accelerator housing and klystron gallery by March, 1964. Installation of accelerator components will start at that time."

The four-inch, 10,000-foot copper tube of the huge machine is being fabricated in 10-foot lengths by a brazing technique developed at Stanford. It will be installed in the underground housing, which will be covered over with earth as a chield against radiation while the accelerator is running.

On the surface of the ground directly above, a long gallery will be built for the 240 klystron tubes that will furnish the machine's power. Each will have a 24-billion-watt peak and 22,000-watt average power output.

"Designs for major items including the modulators, vacuum system, support and alignment system, water cooling system, the beam switchyard and research areas are in progress, Dr. Neal said.

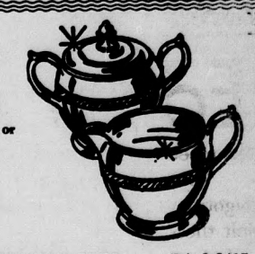

When completed the machine will have an energy of 1-20 Bev (billion electron volts). If it proves necessary, this energy can later be doubled by adding more klystrons to the existing structure.

The Stanford Linear Accelerator Center is expected to become one of the principal international centers of particle physics research. Scientists from the U. S. and other countries will be able to use it to explore the atom and the ultimate nature of matter.

A scientific policy committee of eminent U. S. scientists, including Prof. Wolfgang K. H. Panofsky, director of SLAC, will be responsible for recommending which research experiments shall have priority in using the accelerator. Plans call for running it 24 hours a day, including weekends and holidays.

Loads of new modern directories will be delivered in the Palo Alto telephone area

Your new phone book has the latest thing in phone numbers. They're all-numeral numbers. But the numbers correspond to the same dial openings as the letters they replace, so dialing itself remains the same.

The country's growing population is the reason for the new all-numeral phone numbers. As more and more families get telephones, usable letter combinations for prefix names are being used up. Going to an all-numeral system will help make enough phone numbers available to keep up with this growth.

All Number Calling has other advantages. It prevents wrong numbers caused by mistaken spelling, such as "CI" instead of "CY" for CYpress. It also eliminates the confusion between the letter "O" and the numeral "0" and the letter "I" and the numeral "1." When all telephone numbers are all numerals, the letters can be removed from the dial, making dials easier to read and use.

We've sent you a new number card for your telephone dial that shows your all-numeral number. If you have not received this card, just call Repair Service and another will be sent right away.

You may want to look up the numbers in your new phone book that you call most often and write them in your telephone "Blue Book." If you don't have one of these free personal directories, just call your local business office. We'll be glad to send you one.

M-A—Troy Battle Looms

Now that the situation is completely reversed from a couple of years ago, the Menlo-Atherton High School Bears probably are wishing that this was Saturday. That way tomorrow would be over with and with it their date with the South Peninsula Athletic League-leading Ravenswood High Trojans.

Coach Bill Loftus' Bears, after their 60-42 loss to crosstown rival Woodside Tuesday at M-A, now have a 1-5 SPAL record and little stomach for the likes of Ravenswood, now 5-1 including their 67-37 wipeout of San Carlos Tuesday.

The Woodsiders fattened their league mark to 2-4 by beating the Bears, which also was the first time in six tries over three seasons they've done it. Big (6-5) Bruce Steckel's school rtcord 31 points and 23 rebounds were the biggest of several bright spots—or dark spots — depending on which bench you're viewing from.

Anyway, coach Bill Guttormsen's Wildcat five gets the rare honors against San Carlos (0-6) tomorrow night at the Woodside court. B games at both Ravenswood and Woodside start at 7 p.m., with the varsity tilts to follow.

Tomorrow's games will signal the end of the first round of the double round robin SPAL season. They'll start at the top again next Tuesday, with M-A at San Carlos and Ravenswood at Woodside, varsity gametimes at 3:30 p.m. and B's at about 5 o'clock.

This is truly a down year for the Bear basketballers, the first they've ever had. One can only guess at how big the margin will be at Ravenswood tomorrow if 6-3 Nate Branch and little Milky Johnson, the league's 1-2 scoring leaders, get hot. The injury-shot Bears, with only about seven able-bodied players, have no one to stop them.

Off his near-flawless performance Tuesday, Steckel should help take the Wildcats to a fairly easy win over the short, green Dons tomorrow night. He and 6-3 forward Harvey Shank have been about all the Cats have needed on the boards.

And despite stories about their poor shooting, things like their .433 percentage (26x60) from the floor Tuesday are becoming more commonplace all the time.

With 6-2 Claibon Mallett the biggest the Bears could muster to stop it, the Wildcat offense at M-A Tuesday consisted primarily of passing up the middle to Steckel and letting him do the rest. Steckel hit five of seven field goal attempts in the first half and eight of ten in the second, only one from more than five feet out. Why walk?

It was early in the second quarter with the Cats leading 12-11 that Bruce made his presence felt with two follows and a tipin in quick succession which, with a Shank tipin and Ted Fischer follow and Gary Ott free throw, made it 23-11 with three minutes to go before halftime. It was 25-19 at the half, with M-A's Bevan Odenweller trying to lead a comeback.

But they never made it. The Loftusmen closed to 33-39 with 3:29 of the third period left on Kris Segerstrom's free toss, but Steckel immediately popped in another two-pointer and the Cats stayed out of trouble thereafter.

Steckel, Shank and guard Bill Welsh staged a little blitz of their own midway through the fourth stanza. Odenweller hit a 15-foot jumper with 4:38 left to make it 48-39 at the time. Two 25-footers by Welsh, two follows by Steckel and a layup by Shank took the time down to 1:55 and the score to 56-39 before M-A's Rod Pommes made another charity for the Bears' 40th point.

Odenweller topped the Bear scorers with 16 points, with Segerstrom adding 12. As a team the Bears shot .318 (14x44), not too hot. They also were outrebounded by a terrific 55-22 margin. Fischer followed Steckel in points, with ten, for the Wildcats.

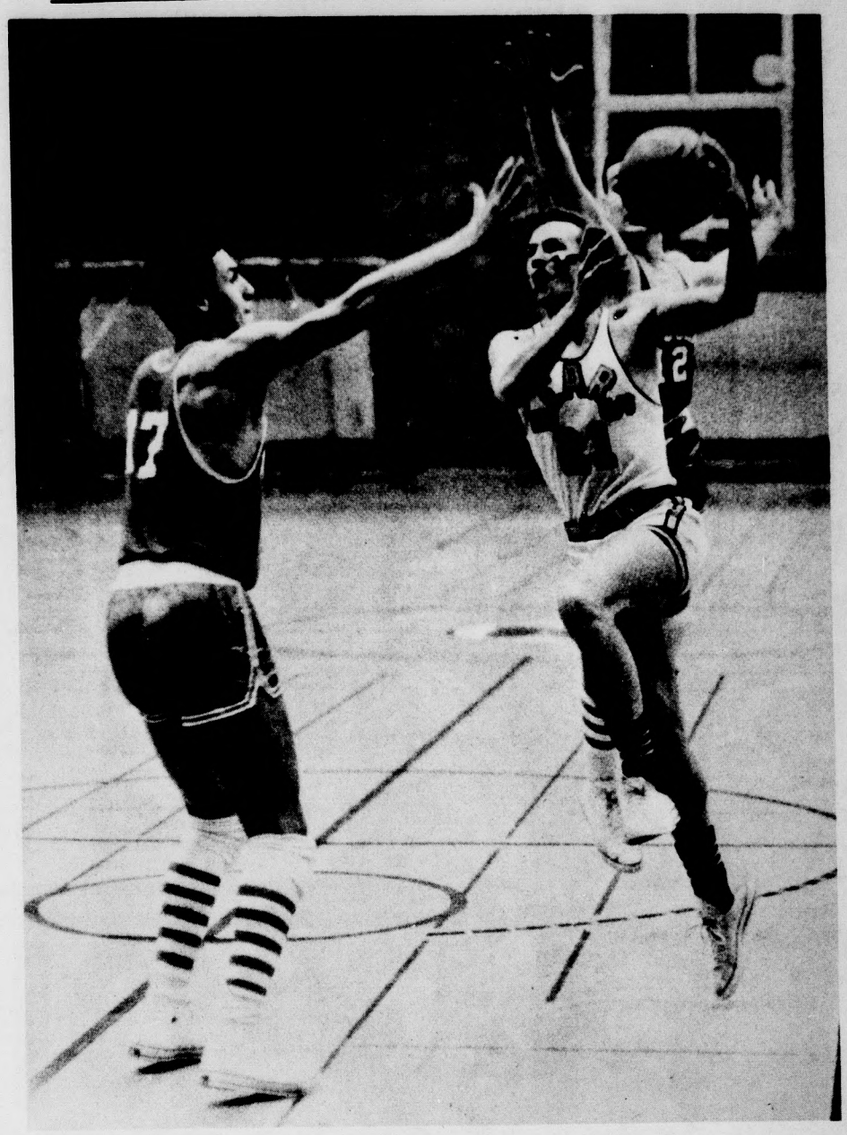

CLOSE B GAME

The lead changed hands a thousand times before the Bearcubs finally subdued the Kittens 40-37 in a real fine ballgame. M-A took a 31-30 lead in the fourth period that it kept, blowing it up to 38-33 once. But two field goals by Woodside's Paul Hansan made it 38-37 later. Howard Bush relieved the tension for the Bears with two final free throws.

Dick Brumm led M-A with 13 points, with Ernie Berg next with ten. Hanson and Steve Ford collected eight apiece for the Cats, with Mike Ayers getting seven and Courtney Collins six.

Boy! What Next? . . .

HE DOESN'T . . .
. . . usually chew on his glasses frame while driving for a layup, but Menlo-Atherton's Bevan Odenweller (21) found himself spitting them out after Woodside's Ted Fischer (12) bumped him on the way past Tuesday. Woodside's Bruce Steckel (17) watched the "spectacle" as it went by him. But losing the glasses didn't help—Odenweller missed the shot. Woodside won handily 60-42, glasses or not.

Trojans 'Vacation' at Donland

Ravenswood and Palo Alto—a team the Trojans whipped badly in their only meeting — remained deadlocked for the SPAL basketball varsity lead Tuesday, but the Carlmont Scots fell by the wayside.

The Trojans routed woeful San Carlos 67-37 with reserves seeing plenty of duty. In the meantime, Sequoia was topping the Scots, who were minus injured Steve Caria, and the Vikings were clipping Cubberley 53-46.

Both Trojans and Vikings now possess 5-1 records. Carlmont and Sequoia are next in line with 4-2, followed by Cubberley, 3-3, Woodside, 2-4, and San Carlos, 0-6.

Nate Branch and Milky Johnson each stayed in the San Carlos ball game long enough to get 21 points apiece. That took both of them just a bit more than two quarters of action. In that short space, Branch also dragged down 20 rebounds.

Everyone saw action for the Trojans. Next highest scorer was reserve guard Bobby Washington with six points. Three boys had four points — John Perez, Art Crum and Jim Fields.

The best that the Dons could do individually was seven points by Chris Durkin. Barry Prince had six.

Indicative of the ball game's progress was the fact that the Trojans led 23-8 after the first quarter. Reserves finished the first half, hiking the lead to 35-14. After the first team played the third quarter, the score was a remarkable 59-22. The second and third Trojan teams finished up.

Team statistics showed the Trojans making 24 of 72 shots for a fair .333 per cent and a hot 19xx25 from the free throw stripe. The Dons hit .300 from the floor (15x50) without near the chances the Trojans got. The Dons also were badly outrebounded, 74-43.

In the B game, the Trojan lightweights reeturned to form, thumping the Dons 46-36 as Jim Bradley connected for 22 points. The Trojans led throughout and staved a mild Don rally in the fourth period. Jeff Mulford tallied eight for Troy and Art Edge and Varrie Booker had seven each.

Buder Makes Soccer AA Team

Karl Buder, the leading Menlo College soccer scorer this past season, has been named a 1962 second team junior college All-American, the National Soccer Coaches Association announced this week.

Buder is believed to be the only soccer player ever named to an All-American squad from Menlo. He led the Oaks to a 4-5-1 record this season and topped the team in scoring with nine goals. He played inside right.

Menlo soccer coach Carlos Lopez at the same time has been appointed to represent the junior college All-American committee in the West.

Three other Bay Area JC soccer players made AA, all from City College of San Francisco, which defeated Menlo twice. Cesar Pina and goalie Gary DeLong made the first team and Alstair Miller the second.

Flyers Are Oaks' Only 'Amusement'

Limbering up exercises on the Moffett Field Flyers are about the only diversion that coach Jack Rowley's Menlo College Oaks basketballers can find these days, what with semester exams time upon them.

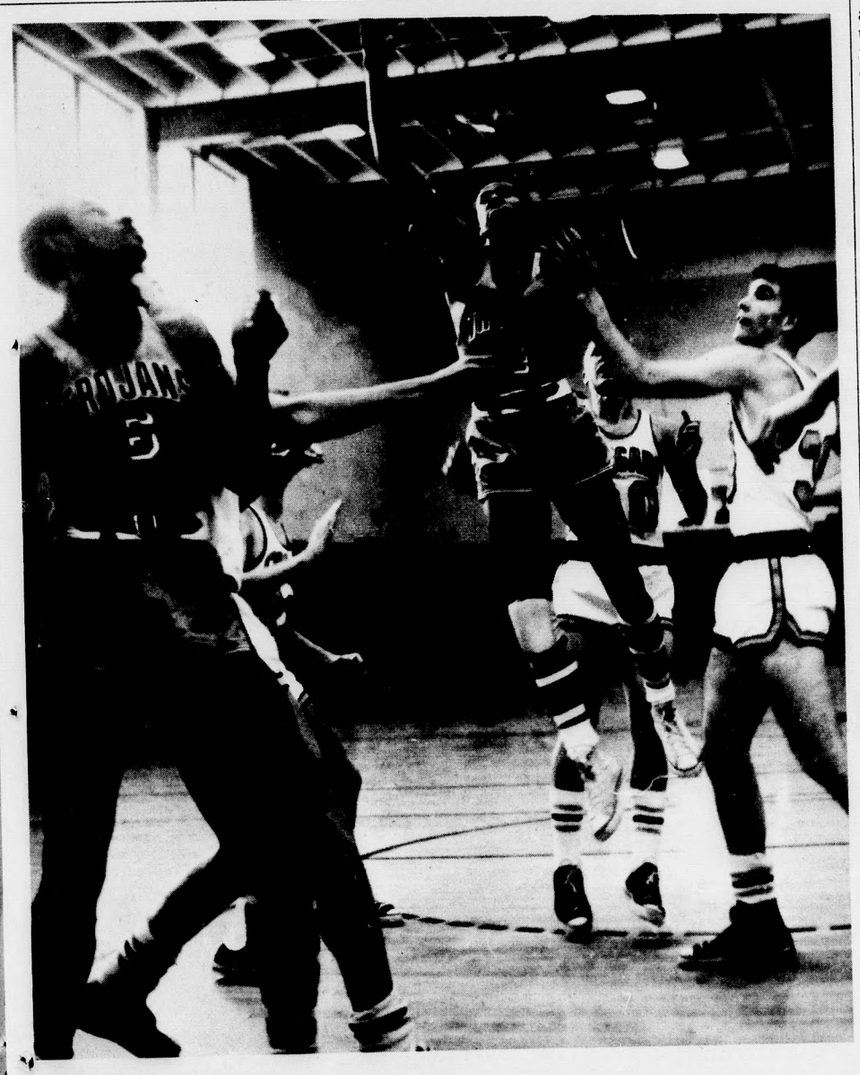

The Rowleymen meet the Flyers 79-55 this last Saturday the Menlo gym in the third meeting of the year between the two. The Oaks blitzed the Flyers 79-55 this last aSturday night at Moffett. The first time they met this season was in the Coast Conference Tournament two weeks ago, the Oaks winning 90-62.

After that there won't be any more shooting for the Oaks until next Friday, Feb. 1, when they open the Coast Conference race against San Benito College at Hollister.

The Saturday victory over Moffett somewhat soothed the pain inflicted by the Stanford Frosh Friday in their 70-45 victory over the Oaks in the Stanford-Washington varsity preliminary at Stanford Pavilion.

The Oaks, now 8-7 for the season, got a 23-point scoring effort from Bob Nichols and 19 more from Dick Hallett Saturday. Bob Volle of Moffett also got 23. The Oaks shot better than 40 per cent from the floor, one of their better recent performances

They hit only 28 per cent Friday while the Stanford yearlings were burning the cords for 48 per cent. Hallett was top Menlo scorer with 13 points, with Lance Lund having 11. Jim Pandell led Stanford with 15. Nichols led rebounders with 11 grabs, although Stanford led 48-44 in these.

FIELDER FOR MILKY . . . . . Milky Johnson (4), Ravenswood High guard, faked his way free and got off a successful field goal attempt against Cubberley Friday. Right there in case he missed was Nate Branch (6), who had 22 rebounds in that game. Cubberley players are Bob Neill (23), Rich Kuhta (30) and Jim Hill (32). Ravenswood was an easy winner.

Priory Makes Move for Soccer Lead

It looks as if Woodside Priory is going to make a big to-do about defending its Peninsula High School Invitational Soccer Tournament title of last year. Priory, though tied once, hasn't been beaten in two other outings, taking Serra 4-1 Friday and Menlo School 4-2 Tuesday.

Priory gets also-unbeaten South San Francisco High (1-0) in soccer action tomorrow, up there. Unwhipped San Carlos High (2-0) will be at Woodside High (0-1-1), El Camino High (0-0-1) will be at Menlo (0-2) and Sequoia High (1-1) takes on Serra High (0-1-1) at Serra. All matches start at 3:15 p.m.

The Priories barged past a 2-1 Menlo halftime lead Tuesday, with a ball handling penalty setting up the free kick that decided the outcome. Chuck Arnold kicked a pair of goals for the winners, with Vance Carter and Bob Dougherty adding the others.

Rick Rebhun beat the goalie on a breakaway shot for one Menlo goal and Roger Hornby kicked the other. Goalie John Robertson and Dave Hornby did well for Menlo.

Carter and Arnold scored in the first half and Balint Birkas and Andras Csaplar in the second in the Priory victory over Serra.

Doug Moore's fourth-quarter penalty kick accounted for Sequoia's only goal that stood up for a 1-0 victory over Woodside in another Friday test at Sequoia. A ball handling call set that one up. Woodside and Sequoia had a scoreless tie in the junior varsity meeting.

San Carlos also came up with a 1-0 verdict Friday, over Menlo. Toy Borgegard put one in near the end of the first half and Menlo couldn't come back.

A Big Week-Long Bash?

Acorn Cagers Fatten Averages On Weak League Opposition

This week might be remembered as "Binge Week" for the Menlo School Acorns, who started it by slaughtering Concordia School at its Oakland basketball court 66-23 Tuesday and tomorrow will man the Menlo breastworks against the same Concordians. Junior varsity gametime is 3:15 p.m., with the varsity clash following.

Next week is exams week at Menlo, so this Bay Counties Athletic League game was moved up from Feb. 1. The Acorns will be back Feb. 5 against Half Moon Bay. Their present BCAL mark is 4-1, as is that of the JV's who also tromped Concordia, 58-18. The Acorns had a good day Friday too, slapping down Half Moon Bay 43-32.

Sophomore center Bill Closs outscored Concordia by himself Tuesday, hitting a varsity season high of 29 points, including 12 field goals in only 15 attempts. Closs' exploits led Menlo to an incredibly torrid .549 shooting percentage, 28 hits in only 51 attempts.

The 6-4 Closs' previous high was 28 earlier this season. What made it easier was Concordia's dismal .156 (10x64) from the floor. Mike Keller led the losers with six points.

Menlo got 39 rebounds to the hosts' 17, with Closs leading here too with 15. Doug Perry got 12. Tom Fulton was the Acorns' runnerup scorer with ten digits. It was 35-13 and all over at the half.

Coach Reynolds Crutchfield used everybody, but had to keep some of his starters, including Closs, in to handle the Concordia press, which still caused many Acorn errors. But the Acorns, definitely up after the two murderings they got from Concordia last year, couldn't be handled. This also was without starting guard Henry Lasker, the Acorns' other consistent top scorer.

John Thomas potted 17 points for the JV's, who had an even easier time than the varsity in winning.

The Acorns pulled a full-court press of Half Moon Bay Friday that led to a 15-6 scoring advantage in the fourth quarter and salted the game away.

The Acorns were hot defensively, which made up for their meager .333 per cent (17x51) shooting. Closs and Tom Fulton each got 12 points for Menlo, with Closs and HMB's Joe Molale leading with rebounds with 11 apiece.

Jim Johnston's 12 points led the Acorn JV's to a simple 44-14 verdict.

AH Net Tourney Winners Emerge

Lynne Egbert and Marian Garhardt topped all other doubles teams in the ladies' "razzle dazzle" round robin doubles tournament last week at Alpine Hills Tennis and Swimming Club.

Winners in the men's noon 26-point round robin handicap bisque were Chuck O'Connor and Lee Boucher, with Sandy Mackay and Joe Futernick the runnerup team.

Grapplers Face Tough Times Tomorrow

Many tough rows will have to be hoed in tomorrow's South Peninsula Athletic League wrestling meets, but none probably tougher than that faced the winless (0-2) Woodside High Wildcats, who get the loss-less (2-0) San Carlos High Dons at the Cat mats.

It won't be easy for anyone else, either, though. Menlo-Atherton is at Cubberley (both are 1-1), Carlmont visits Ravenswood (both also 1-1) and Sequoia (0-2) heads for title-minded Palo Alto (2-0). All meets begin at 3:30 p m. with the 97-pound matches.

Powerful, well-balanced San Carlos is in striking contrast to the Woodsiders, who are tough in the middleweights but green and inexperienced most everywhere else.

The Cats' 30-17 loss to Cubberley last Friday was typical, with the Cats losing after leading 17-12 going into the 167-pound match. Palo Alto came to M-A and beat the Bears 26-23 in the final heavyweight clash, Ravenswood built a huge lead and hung on to down Sequoia 31-18 and San Carlos came from behind to take Carlmont 28-22 in other Friday action.

A pin by Frank Donate (135) and decision victories by Larry D'Oliva (97), Terry Thompson (144) and Jess Ortega (140) helped Woodside to an early lead and brought up the best fight of the day, Ron Himmelright's 1-0 decision over Cubberley's Jim Wipff in the 156's.

Himmelright escaped late in the third period after Wipff came within a whisker of pinning him.

But it was all Cubberley in the last four matches, three of them going to big Cougars by pins and all in the first round, dishearteningly enough.

Palo Alto had led M-A through the middleweights, but then the Bears made a run for it. John Brigham decisioned Paly's Doug Waples by a long 11-2 count in the 167 bout and 177 Dave Havard followed with a second-round pin of Paly's Les Tollner.

But Paly then came back in the final two matches to win, with Keith Hart decisioning Doug Banducci 8-7 in 193 and unlimited Bob Heinichen nailing M-A's Paul DuPont in the second round.

An eariler surprise for M-A was 122 Ted Geiringer's first loss of the season after seven victories, a ding-dong 15-13 decision dropped to Paly's Bob Ellis. Dick Lennon (105), Terry Van Dien (114) and Dick Treat (156) won for M-A by pins.

Ravenswood was ahead 28-6 going into the 167 match and never won again, but the Trojans didn't need to. Ravenswood's 129 John Dewey, making his first appearance of the season, stopped Glenn Arimoto 4-0 on the most impressive decision for the Trojans, with 156 Willie Webster getting Bob Bush in the first round for the quickest pin.

Among the bigger boys, Ravenswood's 167 Steve Brownell and unlimited Cecil Chu drew with Jerry Robles and John Holt, respectively. This was the first non-victory for the 270-pound Chu in seven matches. He couldn't find a handle on Holt and both ended up scoreless.

Trojans Humble Cougs-No Sweat

Coach Bud Presley of Cubberly wore a tortured look during the first quarter of Ravenswood High's 58-39 drubbing of the Cougar basketball varsity Friday in South Palo Alto.

The look soon wore off. It was replaced by stony-faced grimness as Presley saw Ravenswood apply its best defense of the season to date—beating the Cougars in the part of the game where they are strongest.

Nate Branch, who didn't take too many shots from the floor, nevertheless led all scorers with 19 Trojan points because he hit 11 of 15 charity tosses. Branch also worked the boards hard once again, getting credit for 22 rebounds.

Teammate Milky Johnson concentrated on defense in this one, but found time to score 16 points. What's more, the 5-9 guard battled for 13 rebounds. Trojan center Art Crum completed Ravenswood domination of the boards with 14 rebounds.

Soph forward Mel Easley continued to improve in the scoring department, hitting four field goals for eight points. Crum had six, Jimmy Fields had four, and reserves Ray Horn and Bob Washington tallied two each. Len Wiley hit one freethrow.

Tops for Cubberley was Rich Kuhta with 11. Jim Hill was next with nine.

Ravenswood shoved off to a 16-5 first quarter lead, rarely allowing the Cougars to get good shots away. At halftime it was 31-16.

The East Palo Altans began to extend the margin in the third period as Branch, at one point, tallied four points in a row on free throws to make the score 40-20, a 20-point lead.

The fourth period began with the score at 42-24. Six more Branch free throws plus a beautiful underhanded layup by Johnson and Easley's jump shot gave the Trojans a massive 23-point lead. Trojan reserves came in at this point and Cubberley scoring picked up a bit.

But there was no chance for the Cougars in this one. They couldn't cope with Ravenswood rebounding power at any time during the ball game.

The Class B game was a different story. John Woodmansee and Jeff Sandborn of the Cougar lightweights had pretty complete control of all loose balls and the Cougars outclassed the Trojan Bs 51-35.

Coach Tom Crane didn't start forward Jim Bradley, league-leading scorer, until the second quarter for disciplinary reasons. The locals did fairly well without him, getting a 11-11 tie at the end of that period on two charity tosses by Varrie Booker.

They stayed close through the second period as Art Edge and Booker tanked goals near halftime to cut in-to a Cougar lead. But Sandborn, a big boy, hit from close in to make the intermission score favor Cubberley 24-21.

Then the Trojans really went into a slump. They had only three free throws to their credit in the third period — and no field goals. The Cougars were home free after that.

Tying Sandborn for high-point honors was Booker of the Trojans. Both had 15.

Other Ravenswooders who scored were Edge, seven; Bradley, six; Jeff Mulford, four, and Haruo Sakamoto, two.

Precedents Fail For, Hold Against Bears

Jeff Cudworth dumped in 21 points, Gary Frohlich 19 and the rest of the Sequoia High Cherokees in general made life miserable for the Menlo-Atherton High Bears Friday night. The Tribe won 58-41, need we say. It was the first time since 1957 that's happened in varsity basketball circles and the first time Sequoia coach Bob Andersen ever went home happy with a victory over a Bill Loftus-coached Bear squad in South Peninsula Athletic League play.

The Bears just weren't in it ever. They fell behind at the start, with their zone defense falling flat and the shooting going sour — just what they didn't need against against Cudworth & Co.

Bevan Odenweller did what he could to keep the Bears in it — his field goal that closed the score to 20-13 in the second period made it as close as it ever got. Odenweller led the Bears with 15 points, nine in a futile third-quarter attempt to revive the Bears' flagging hopes. Rod Pommes, with eight, and Dick Burrill, with seven, were next high for M-A.

Sequoia's John Frykland added insult to injury right at the halftime buzzer, casting off from midcourt. The ball cut the cords for a two-pointer and the Tribe went to the dressing-room ahead 32-16.

The Sequoians bombed the net with a good .437 per cent (21x48) going through. This was the lowest Sequoia shot total of the year. M-A's chilly .254 (16x63) was fairly typical. They also were outrebounded 50-30, losing almost everything off the boards at times to the taller Tribesmen.

Supposedly a calm, cool and collected club, the Bear B's couldn't make much of a dent in Sequoia's zone defense and fumbled away a 56-39 decision, their second SPAL loss of the season. It came as something of a surprise but shouldn't.

Sequoia's hex over M-A in B competition is what M-A's was over the Cherokees in the varsity division. Sequoia beat M-A twice last year, the only team to do so, which cut the Bears out of the SPAL title.

John Lovelace got 16 points for the winners, with Paul Savoia 15 and Bill Frazier 12. Howard Bush netted 11 and Fred Lucky 10 for the Bearcubs, who trailed 33-15 at halftime and never recovered.

CAMELLIA SEASON

The camellia season which has been building up steam since last fall really breaks out all over in February and early March. Choose a well drained spot to plant them, without too much sun. Give them some leaf mold and peat moss or a planting mix at planting time to keep them happy later on.

Menlo Oaks Tips Wilbur Cages

Menlo Oaks School, with Bob Grisak hitting 12 of his game-high 17 points in the first half, held off Wilbur Jr. High of Palo Alto in a grim 29-25 basketball struggle last week.

Wilbur came back for a 23-20 third-quarter lead, but Menlo's Steve Klett brought them out of the woods with two driving layins and a pair of free throws. The closest Wilbur came in the last two minutes was 26-25.

7th-8th Cage League Starts

Three ball games will kick off the Saturday morning seventh-eighth grade basketball league this week at the Ravenswood Recreation and Park District gymnasium, 550 Bell St., East Palo Alto.

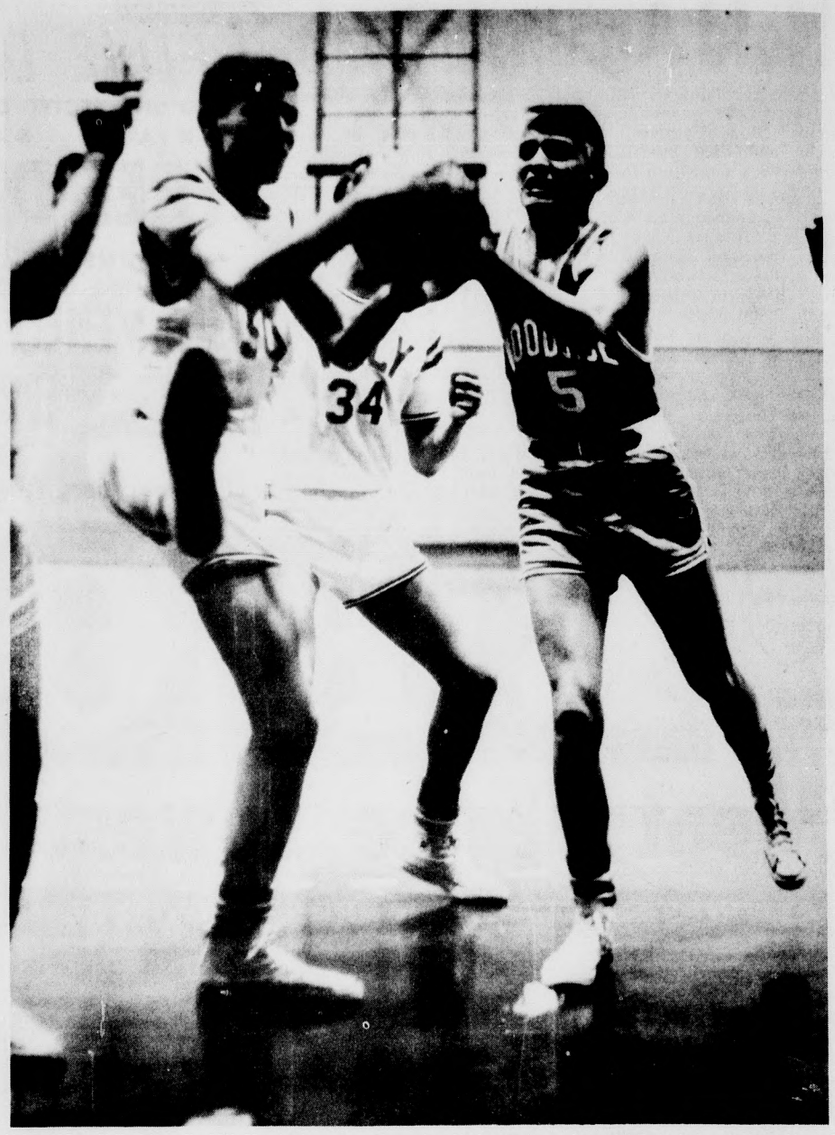

More than 60 boys signed up for team membership in the league, director Jim Curl announced. All games will be played at the rec center gym.

The first game at 9:40 a.m. pits the Serfs against the Dukes. At 10:30 a.m., the Squires and the Kings do battle. The 11:15 a.m. game will match the Lords and the Knights.

Because there are six teams in the league, it'll run on a tight time schedule, Curl said. He urged team members to be on time so that forfeits can be avoided.

GALS' VOLLEYBALL

More women are needed to participate in volleyball held each Friday morning from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the Ravenswood Recreation and Park District gymnasium, 550 Bell St.

Rec Cagers Turn On the Steam

Menlo Park Recreation Department playground basketball league action will get going full speed this week, with the fifth and sixth grades playing games at the schoolgrounds, the seventh grade at Burgess gym and the eighth grade at Menlo-Atherton High School gym.

The fifth and sixth-grade schedules were to be announced by the rec dept. this week. The seventh and eighth graders will play Saturday mornings.

This Saturday's seventh grade games have Oak Knoll 1 vs. Encinal at 9 a.m.; Oak Knoll 2 vs. Nativity at 9:45, and La Entrada 1 vs. Hillview at 10:30 La Entrada 2 drew the bye.

Eighth grade action features La Entrada 1 vs. Hillview 2 at 9, La Entrada 2 vs. Hillview 1 at 9:45, Nativity vs. Oak Knoll 1 at 10:30 and Encinal vs. Oak Knoll 2 at 11:15.

Last Saturday's seventh grade games had Oak Knoll beating Hillview 16-9, Nativity tipping La Entrada 1 19-13 ,and Encinal taking La Entrada 2 19-16.

Chuck Haskins and John Gardi scored four points apiece for Oak Knoll, with Dave Lambert and Steve Luckenbach sinking three apiece for Hillview. Kent Seltzer's ten points led Nativity over La Entrada 1, with Chris Connaway getting six for the losers. Jim Sciaroni's six points was tops for Encinal, with Jim Thornton leading La Entrada 2 with ten.

BEST TIME

Dave Schmitz of Menlo Park drove his FX class (factory experimental) car to top time in that division Sunday at Fremont Drag Strip, doing 111.40 m.p.h. in 12.69 seconds over the quarter-mile.

Inez Fabian Tops Women Keglers

Inez Fabian of the Anderson Shoes of Menlo team bowled the high game of the week in the Majoretts League last week at Woodside Bowl, a 540 with a high game of 202.

Dot Poole and Marilyn Zimmon of Fabric Rug Cleaners followed with 536 and 551, respectively. Next were Doris Golis of Leasman Cleaners, 502; Torchy Hogue and Jean Birgen, 501; and Ruth Schmitz, 465.

Bad Third Quarter Sinks Cats at Paly

Unable to survive the wickedest quarter they've been through yet this season, the Woodside High varsity basketballers absorbed their fourth South Peninsula Athletic League setback in five tries Friday night at Palo Alto, losing 54-48 to the host Paly Vikings.

The Wildcats made a tough game of it, especially in the first half. They trailed only 28-26 at halftime, but a 20-point binge, in which everything the Vikes put up went through, put an end to the Cats' dreams in the third period and they never recovered.

Fred Pribble and Larry Bishop, with nine and eight points, respectively, were the prime movers of the Paly exploits in their big period. Except for the one trouble spot, the Cats kept the game on pretty even terms.

Pribble and Woodside's big Bruce Steckel tied for high game honors with 20 points each, Pribble hitting his from the outside, the 6-5 Steckel mostly on layins and hooks.

Ted Fischer and Harvey Shank each got eight points for the Wildcats, who hit a respectable .396 per cent (19x48) of their shots. With Bishop adding 14 and Dan Johnson 10 to the Paly total in their hot night, the normally lukewarm shooting Vikes hit .426 (23x54)

Johnson's 19 rebounds led Paly to a 46-40 rebounding margin, too.

Woodside led 19-14 some way into the second period, but Pribble, Carpenter and Bishop went to work, that lead disappeared and the Wildcats never again were even or ahead.

B's WENT TO WORK

Woodside's B's made it look farcical in their 47-25 victory over the Vikelets, with the first team going wild in the two quarters it played. The starters hit seven of eight floor shots in the first period for 87 per cent.

In return, Paly got absolutely no shots off in the second canto, hitting four free throws only.

Courtney Collins led 11 Woodside scorers with 11 points. Steve Ford was next with eight and Lee Schiff had six.

JV's COULDN'T HOLD ON

Palo Alto rolled to its tenth straight junior varsity victory in the first preliminary 50-37 over the Wildcats. Bob Littell hits 14 points for Paly, with Doug Morningstar leading the Cats with 13.

NIGHT BEAT

By KEITH R. BONNETT

MISS TOOTS LEMAY is appearing Sun-Friday at THE DERBY. All 300 pounds of her! TOOTS, an old pro of some 60 plus years, can really belt out those old favorite tunes.

A poor-man's Sophie Tucker, she is a professional entertainer that puts a lot of the current "Johnny-come-lately" in the washroom. Songs like "Me and My Shadow," "Some of These Days," "Bill Bailey," fill the room as she works to perfect the correct sound and expression that makes an entertainer a pro.

She comes to the peninsula from an engagement at the "Silver Slipper," LAS VEGAS.

DERBY owner SAL has her booked for a limited engagement but she could stay on.

This peninsula that has seen just about any and all forms of entertainment, now is blessed with a hypnotist.

TERRY DUNCAN, former psychological warfare officer, Korean truce team aid, 20 thousand plus executive with a major metals corporation, is packing the EMBERS every Wednesday night with willing subjects striving for a hypnotic trance. Unlike his contemporaries TERRY does not prehypnotize his subjects, rather, he cast a hypnotic spell over the entire club including, entertainers, bar tenders, and patrons. The results are spectacular, funny, unusual, unpredictable, guaranteed to stop all drinking much to the dismay of owner DON ZIRILI!

TERRY is not a professional entertainer in that he depends on his work for his living, he is an executive with a S. F. Corporation, but he is professional in his ability to hypnotize and to carry on in the face of unaccountable, sometimes almost bizarre relations from his subjects.

Take the case of the man he thought was hypnotized but turned out to be mildly intoxicated manifested in a deep slumber.. During the act a waitress dropped a tray full of glasses and the supposed subject awoke with a start, got up and walked out to the delight of the crowd, the amazement of the hypnotist.

I won't try and describe all the events that can and do happen, but I will urge you to drop by and see: TERRY DUNCAN . . . hypnotist . . . Wednesday nights.

SAMMY BLANK and MARYANNE KENT gave a command performance at the CABANA over the weekend. So great the response they may return!

Take an authentic replica of a 16th century dining hall, serve flaming dishes and huge prime ribs roasted and prepared before your eyes, import two London Lasses dressed in tudor costumes with black leg tights, top off with a strolling minstrel singing old English ballads and drumming on a lute . . . and you will be dining in the KING HENRY ROOM of the HILLSDALE INN.

The London Lasses are cute VALERY CANISE and PAT HUGHES newly arrived from Merry Olde England to help out Manager KEN KIMMEY!

The strolling minstrel who delights diners Sun-Friday nights with his tenor voice and six string lute is handsome, 27-year-old RODGER CLARK.

The lute is a pear shaped instrument made in Germany of rosewood, dating two thousand years to origin in Persia. It found great vogue in England during the 15th, 16th and 17th centuries.

RODGER has played the lute at concerts, on T. V. and at the Fair in Seattle. He will appear through February then goes on concert tour of Eastern Colleges.

The haunting sounds of the lute and Rodger Clark's beautiful melodic tenor voice creates a splendid back drop for an evening of dining.

The annual twist contest is in the planning stages at the TIN PAN ALLEY. Prizes—buffet—with music by the MODERNISTICS and judging by the two members of the "4 AMIGOS."

The "4 AMIGOS" appearing through this weekend have consistently packed the T. P. A.

They are a lot of fun to watch and are excellent entertainers.

Teen Players to Meet, Mull, Map

Menlo Teen Players will meet Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Green Room of Menlo Park Civic Center, with another planning session on tap.

The new theatrical group of teenagers, which made its drama debut last summer, is sponsored by Menlo Park Recreation Department. Winter meetings will be held the fourth Saturday of each month during the winter.

Currently in the planning stage is a stagecraft class for prospective backstage hands with an interest in technical work in upcoming productions. Future discussions and lecture topics will include makeup, staging, scenery and props, dramatic movement, characterization and voice and diction.

Also, the group has decided to stick to original plays by young playwrights whenever possible. Schools will be notified of the script competition for a production this summer.

All interested teenagers are invited to join the Teen Players and will be welcome at the Saturday meeting. Further information may be obtained by calling Michele McLeod at DA 5-8161 or Sheri Girdner, DA 5-2327.

Nativity's 110's Do Best in Cage Loop

Nativity School of Menlo Park made its best basketball showing in the 110 division of the Southern Peninsula Parochial School League, ending the regular SPPSL season Sunday with a 52-19 victory over St. Matthew's of San Mateo at the Serra High gym.

The 110's finished fourth with a 5-3 record. The other Nativity clubs didn't do so well with the varsity last among the seven teams at 0-8 and the Pygmies seventh at 1-7. The Ramblers, who didn't play a regular league schedule, were 3-5.

St. Pius of Redwood City captured two of the SPPSL crowns —the varsity and Pygmy, both with 8-0 records. Mt Carmel of Redwood City is the 110 champ, also at 8-0.

All three other Nativity teams lost their finales Sunday to St. Matthew's. The varsity lost 39-17, the Pygmies 20-10 and the Ramblers 26-11.

The 110's Mike Nualla again was high scorer for the game with 14 points. Randy Demeter had ten, Kent Seltzer eight and Greg Smoak six in the runaway.

Tom Payne was high Nativity varsity scorer, with six counters. Rick Speed topped the local Pygmies with five and Gary Geer led the Nativity Ramblers with four.

Sub Rule Decides Rec Cage Tilts

Gary Lodi was high scorer for the night with 22 points in the 'Bangers' 62-58 victory over the Gladiators in Menlo Park Recreation Department Teen Basketball League play last week, but that wasn't what made the difference.

The league's ten-point penalty for substitutions affected scores of two games, but this one determined the winner. The Bangers were outscored 58-52 from the floor, but 20 of the Gladiator points were by Don Oliver, a "ringer" the Glads had to run in to replace their regular player who couldn't make it.

The ten-point boost the Stingrays got made no difference in their 58-34 victory over the 63's, with Frank Pipgras pouring in 20 points and Craig Cochrane 18 for the winners. Bob Beebe netted 20 for the 63's.

The Saints had an entertaining time of it before subduing the Gents in the other game 39-37, with everything according to Hoyle. Jim Yancey topped the Saints with 16 points, all in the first three periods. Al Rowder got 13 and Rex Hays 12 for the Gents.

Local Girls Win Swim Meet Honors

Dale McKinnon of Menlo Park and Pokey Watson of Portola Valley were winners in the San Francisco Senior Open Swim Meet at Balboa Pool in the City last week.

Miss McKinnon took the senior women's 100-yard breaststroke in 1:14.2 in the 33⅓-yard pool. She finished third in the 200-yard breast stroke. Pokey Watson won the 11-12 girls 200-yard freestyle in 2:18.3 and the 100-yard freestyle in 1:22.9. Miss Watson was swimming for the Santa Clara Swim Club, while Miss McKinnon swam unattached.

'Matchmaker' Gets Stanford Players Stage

The Stanford Players have begun rehearsals for a mad comic romp, Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker". To be performed in Memorial Auditorium on the Stanford campus at 8:30 on the evenings of February 1, 2, 7, 8 and 9, "The Matchmaker" will be staged with colorful period costumes and settings of the gay '90s.

The farcial action of "The Matchmaker," ranging from the horrendous explosion of a cellar full of canned tomatoes to slapstick chases, includes disguises, trickery and the eventual triumph of love and the spirit of youth over crabbed old age.

Heading the cast of this comic romp as Mrs. Dolly Levi, the conniving "matchmaker" and professional arranger of romance, is Priscilla Oliver. Horace Vandergelder, the woman hating tycoon of Yonkers is to be performed by Alvin Kaufman.

Vandergelder's young shop assistants, Cornelius Hackle and Barnaby Tucker, will be played by two students in the Department of Speech and Drama. Cast as Cornelius is Herman Poppe and as his zany confederate Barnaby, Larry Madison.

Mary Steinmetz will play Ermengarde, Vandergelder's young ward. Ambrose Kemper, the romantic artist who finally releases Ermengarde from the clutches of Horace Vandergelder, will be portrayed by Lars Kampman.

Also featured in the cast are Moses Goldberg, playing a larcenous Irishman named Malachi Stack; Judith Burgess as Minny Fay, a sweet and innocent shopgirl; Susan Leich portraying Mrs. Molloy, the owner of a "hatte shoppe"; and Jane Loeb as Miss Flora Van Heusen. Other members of the acting company for "The Matchmaker" are Pauline Peotter, David Kirk, Bruce Salvatore, David Shookoff and Donna Stone.

"The Matchmaker" will be directed by Dr. Norman Philbrick of the Stanford drama faculty.

Tickets may be obtained at the Tresidder Union Box Office on the Stanford campus. Further information may be obtained by calling DA 1-2300, ext. 3317.

Bishop's Co. Performs at Ladera Church

The dramatization of Stephen Vincent Benet's "The Devil and Daniel Webster," as presented by The Bishop's Company, will be presented at the Ladera Community Church Monday. Curtaintimes are 4:30 and 8 p.m. The Bishop's Company is a repertory company, traveling from coast to coast throughout the year.

This unusual production presents the situation of Daniel Webster, the great American statesman and lawyer, who attends the wedding of Mary and Jabez Stone and finds himself defending Jabez against the Devil. When times were hard, Jabez had become discouraged and, in a fit of temper, said he would sell his soul to the Devil.

The English theater was born before the altar of the Church. The long separation of church and stage is being brought to an end by The Bishop's Company, first professional-caliber repertory company to reunite the forces of religion and theater. Asking the audience to share in the creation of the play is part of the technique of the Company, which uses no sets or props.

The Company is inter-racial and interfaith. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Child and Dog Both Learn In This Class

An annual "pet" project is about the homiest way to describe this year's dog training session for children, which the Deep Peninsula Dog Training Club is going to begin next Friday, Feb. 1.

No, the training isn't for children, but for the dogs of children. The youngsters must be under 17 years of age, but the dog's age doesn't make any difference, according to Mrs. Tony Dyer of Menlo Park, one of the Club's members.

The idea here is that the Club can perform a community service by teaching children how to train their dogs and helping them with it, not only for the benefit of the dog, but to help teach children the responsibilities of owning pets and thus how to better care for them. It's "betterment of relations between children and dogs," Mrs. Dyer says.

Basic obedience is the staple of the training course, which will continue from Feb. 1 through the summer until August. Dogs are taught to heel, sit and stay, the basic ingredients for making them more desirable and manageable pets. Jumping through hoops, etc, is for show dogs and isn't included in the curriculum.

The training sessions will meet once a week starting next Friday in a warehouse at 132 Wilson St. in Redwood City. Class hours will be from 7:30-8:30.

The 40-member DPDTC will supply the volunteer instructors, which will work in relays of four weeks each. All are experienced dog owners and trainers and all have exhibited their dogs in various shows.

Qualifications for the dog are few. Distemper shots are a must. Age should be at least ten or 11 months. Other than these, any canine is "in".

Any particular breed the smartest? "No," Mrs. Dyer says, "Some of the little mongrels learn as fast as purebreeds. How fast the dog learns depends on the work of the child training it."

The preferred minimum age of 10-11 months is because puppies don't retain what they learn. "They learn quickly enough but they forget," Mrs. Dyer noted. It is NOT too late to teach an old dog new tricks, either. The Club has trained many that were over six years old. But the younger adult dogs are the best bets. "And there's always a clown in the crowd, so they're fun to watch," Mrs. Dyer says.

Part of the instruction at the meetings will be on acquainting children with methods of training their dogs at home—"homework," if you will. Regular class attendance and homework with the dog will produce results in about two months, Mrs. Dyer states.

But the class is set up so that children may attend when they can, not on a compulsory basis.

The DPDTC is contacting area Boy Scout and Girl Scout packs, acquainting them with the program and inviting participation. Parents also are cordially invited to the training sessions and observe their children and dogs in action. Last year the group had 32 children with dogs enrolled.

Comedia Opens Two Favorite Edward Albee Works Tonight

Edward Albee, America's newest playwright, who is popular with Broadway audiences as well as leader of the avant garde movement, will be represented by his two most popular works to date tonight at 8:30.

This will mark the official opening of "The American Dream" and "The Zoo Story" at the Comedia Theater, 1300 El Camino Real in Menlo Park. The plays will be presented for eight performances, playing Thursdays in repertory with Cole Porter's "Can-Can" on Fridays and Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" on Saturdays.

Heading the cast of "The American Dream" will be Dorothey Wyman in the role of Granny. Mrs. Wyman has appeared many times with Comedia, in addition to a long list of productions with other local theaters.

Bill Huelsenkamp will take the title role of "The American Dream." Lorraine Huelsenkamp, his wife, will take the part of the social worker.

Jean Ryder and Herbert Bartholomew will be seen as Mommy and Daddy. Both are newcomers to the Comedia company. Miss Ryder comes from San Jose where she was a member of the San Jose Civic Theater.

"The Zoo Story" will feature Richard Anton as Peter. Anton is one of the Comedia's best known character actors, having played in over sixteen productions since joining the company in 1960.

Erich Faust, director of both productions, also will be seen in the part of Jerry, the other character in "The Zoo Story." Faust has studied under such luminaries in the theater as David Pressman, Martha Graham and Lee Strasberg, managing director of the New York Actor's Studio.

In the Garden:

Here's a What-to-Do Primer for All Would-Be Rosarians

The novice gardener, wanting to plant some roses, is apt to visit his nursery, buy a few bushes and set them here or there in his garden. The result is several bushes of bloom and some wonderful bouquets for the house. But is this all one should expect? It is not.

The rose is not only a wondrous vehicle for bloom but a versatile shrub for landscape use as well. It comes not only in a hundred and one varieties but in several sizes and shapes to fit various needs in the garden design.

Specifically we have miniature roses, floribunda roses, hybrid tea roses, grandiflora, pillar and climber roses — six different rose types, all with their place in the landscape. We also have some hybrid teas trained to standard or tree form, making seven types in all, and the would-be rosarian should not be content until he has tried them one and all.

Rose hobbyists, of course, must have their sunny beds which are devoted exclusively to roses. In these will be found hybrid tea, floribunda and grandiflora roses, the three types which comprise the bulk of roses on the market and, because of their bush form, the types which are suited to growing in featured beds.

He also will have pillar roses growing against fences or up a post, climbers trained along the fence or against the wall of the house, miniatures in pots and, perhaps, in the rockery or foundation. And what would the true rose garden be without its share of tree roses to line a walk or driveway?

In addition to the above named use for floribunda and grandiflora roses, the gardener should also try them in groups of a single variety. Several grandifloras stand out in beautiful contrast to the background of a grapestake fence — or any fence. A row of floribunda roses, closely planted, makes an informal and highly colorful hedge.

It is the hybrid tea rose, however, on which experienced gardeners rely most heavitly.

Despite the fact that they are more limited in their landscape use, these produce the best individual flowers for show and cutting. The two new All-America rose selections for 1963 both are hybrid tea — Tropicana and Royal Highness. There are countless winners in the group, dating back to the first All-America rose selection winners in the 1940's, and most all of them still are available.

It is from the hybrid tea group, also, that most of our tree roses and climbing roses have been propagated, though both grandiflora and floribunda varieties are to be found as climbers.

The novice often asks what the difference is between grandiflora and floribunda roses. By the way of background explanation, the floribunda is a cross between a polyantha (like the old-fashioned Cecile Brunner type) and a more modern hybrid tea. The result: a free bloomer with larger blossoms in the manner of a hybrid tea, though not so large as the latter.

Grandiflora roses were developed by crossing a floribunda with a hybrid tea, producing thereby a floriferous rose of even larger size than the floribunda. The plant grows like a hybrid tea and produces blooms in mass like the floribunda.

And if you're planting roses for the first time know, too, that supply of the different varieties is greater now than it will be when the bareroot season ends in March.

The one thing to bear in mind about bareroot roses is that the roots should never be allowed to dry out. Plant them as soon as you get them (nurseries have pamphlets and books which detail the planting procedure). And if you can't plant them the same day, bury the roots in moist soil until you can. But don't delay too long, for roses break their dormancy early in California and you wouldn't want them starting to grow in temporary quarters.

And finally, check the label on the rose bush you buy: No. 1 grade is the best quality, No. 1½ is second best. Grade size must be shown on the label or package.

'People Need People Is On the Way

"People Need People" — to mingle with and talk to. That was the conclusion of Dr. Harry Wilmer, practicing psychiatrist in Palo Alto, who pioneered the field of open ward therapy and upon whose case histories and experiences the three-act drama called "People Need People" was written by Henry Greenberg.

"People Need People" is now in rehearsal at Burgess Theater in Menlo Park and will be presented by 15 men and three women members of the Menlo Players Guild, opening Feb. 8-9 for a four-wekend run.

It is the story of the first ten days of an experiment with a group of deranged Korean veterans, pioneered by Dr. Wilmer at Oakland Naval Hospital.

"The mentally ill are people in isolation. Have them live as though they were well," advised Dr. Wilmer. "People Need People" was first presented by Alcoa as a 60-minute drama starring Lee Marvin, and then produced by the inmates of San Quentin Prison.

It is now rewritten as a full three acts of electrifying drama and will be premiered by the Menlo Players. After its appearance in Menlo Park the production of "People Need People" will move to London, England, with a professional cast — which won't include the Menlo Players.

Ernie Ford Hosts Woodsiders

Four students at Woodside High School will appear on ABC-TV's "Tennessee Ernie Ford Show" tomorrow at 12 noon on Channel 7.

They are Pete Shidler, freshman; Bob Fitzwilson, sophomore; Connie Roth, junior, and Barbara McNeil, senior.

The students were selected from members of the school's speech department which attended a videotaping of the Ford Show in the studios of KGO-TV in San Francisco on Tuesday morning, Jan. 15.

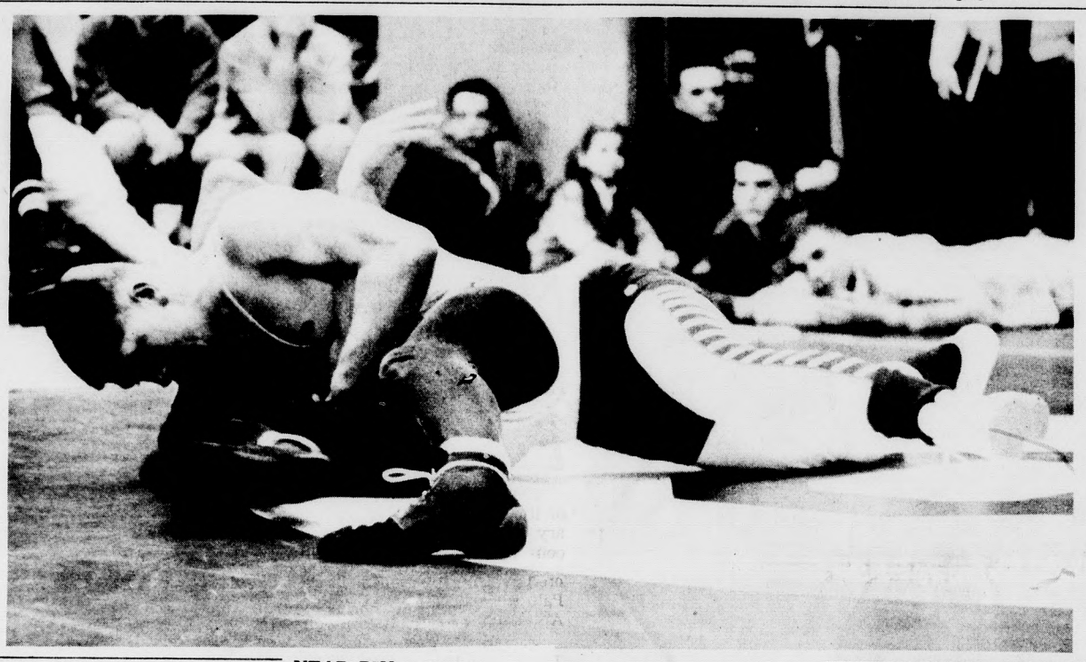

The popular entertainer talked to the young people about their classes and future ambitions and then asked them to join the cast in singing the new hit, "Walk Right In."

The Woodside High students were provided roundtrip bus transportation by KGO-TV.

THERE'S NO . . .
. . . telling what might happen in high school soccer if you let fly with a goalward kick, so Woodside High's Keith Stearns (left) tried it Friday against Sequoia. The kick didn't make it, but Sequoia's Walter Vanderstaay (90) had a lively time stopping it. Sequoia went on to win 1-0 on a penalty shot. Story is on page 9.

IN THE CAST

Gwynne Johnson and Carol Patterson of Menlo Park, both freshmen at Whitman College in Walla Walla, Washington, participated in the recent run of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by the Whitman Theater. Miss Johnson choreographed the dance sequences for the production and appeared as the First Faerie. Miss Jatterson, who has danced at Stanford previously, was making her first appearance.

Peninsula Storytellers...

The Peninsula Storytellers Assn, devotes itself to developing its collective and individual repertoire of stories which are told to both children's and adult groups in libraries, schools, camps, meetings and many other gatherings. Old favorites are, of course, done, but the storytellers are constantly finding new stories and new ways to illustrate them. Above they meet for a monthly practice session.

Panel Discussion:

PTA Examines Children's Responsibility

"At what age should a child be expected to assume responsibility for his own actions?"

This is the opening question to be asked at the Portola Valley PTA meeting to be held in the Portola School multi-use room on Wednesday, Jan. 30, at 7:30 p.m. A panel of four men, well qualified by background, training and experience, will discuss "The Schoolchild's Responsibility and Privilege."

Dr. Sheldon Woodward, Menlo Park pediatrician, Dr. Malcolm McAfee, Presbyterian pastor at Stanford University, Ray Spangler, editor and publisher of the Redwood City Tribune, and Jack Wright, professor of English at Foothill Junior College, will be the panelists.

Among the subjects to be discussed are "How do we develop a child's respect for his elders and for public and private property?" "What effect on maturity and good citizenship have the school, the home, the community and the church on the child?"

BACKGROUND

Dr. Sheldon Woodward is a pediatrician at the Menlo Medical Clinic. He was educated at Wesleyan in Connecticut and at the University of Michigan Medical School.

Following his service in the armed forces, he has practiced pediatrics in the clinic for 12 years. Dr. Woodward lives in Portola Valley. He has four children.

Dr. Malcolm McAfee did his undergraduate work at the University of Chicago and received his DD at Yale Divinity School and his MA and PhD in Sociology at Yale. He taught at Georgia Tech for four years, where he was a consultant for the State Board of Education. He later taught at Davidson College in North Carolina for three years. There he served as chairman of a disciplinary seminar. Dr. Mac, as the students call him, has been at Stanford for the past six years. He is also teaching both fourth and sixth grade Sunday school at the First Presbyterian Church of Palo Alto, and is developing a program of instruction for these age levels. He also serves on the committee of the Synod of California to coordinate the Presbyterian curriculum to the Social Science curriculum of the California schools. He lives in Palo Alto and has three children.

Ray Spangler was born in Oakland and received his BA at Stanford. He was editor of the South San Francisco Enterprise for 10 years; he was advertising manager of the Watsonville Register Pajoronian for one year. From 1937 to 1945 he was successively a reporter, city editor and editor of the Redwood City Tribune. He was editor and publisher from 1945 to 1949 and publisher from 1949 to the present time. He was a director of the Associated Press from 1951-1961; vice president of AP in 1960-61; treasurer of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society; secretary-treasurer of the San Mateo County Newspaper Publishers Association; president of the Better Business Bureau of San Mateo County, which he helped to establish He lives in Redwood City and has three children.

Jack Wright, English instructor at Foothill College, began his education at Southwest Texas State Teachers College. During the war he served in the Navy and the Air Force. Later, Wright was the electrical construction foreman for the Siems-Drake Puget Sound Company in Alaska, and then returned to the Peninsula to work as an electrician. During this time he worked two days a week and went to San Jose State College for three days a week. He took his MA in Education at San Jose. He taught at City College in San Jose for five years and has been at Foothill ever since its opening. He hastwo small children.

INTERNATIONAL DAY . . .
. . . at Oak Knoll School last week brought American Field Service exchange students and other foreign students for an all day session at the elementary school. PTA sponsored, the day was made highly successful by the poised approach of the high school students who gave short talks for each class describing a little of their country's background. Here Frank Zuniga (at left) from Guatamala City and Mani Gonzales from Spain speak for a seventh grade science class.

Style Shows Resume

It's show time again at Allied Arts. The policy of repeating the 12:30 p.m. luncheon show at the 3 p.m. teatime met with such response last season that the double showings will be resumed on Monday, Feb. 4, and the first Monday of each month thereafter.

A whole new crop of chairmen are involved with their committees in the extra duties entailed. Mrs. Newton Turney, assisted by Mrs. Gifford Christenson, is readying the ski-time decor to be installed by her Suiday crew, in spite of a shortage of even artificial snow. One member has offered a jar of the real thing saved from last year's phenomenon.

Mrs. Dan Haney, fashion show chairman, assisted by Mrs. George L. Ogle, has scheduled fittings for the fashions from a Menlo Park women's apparel shop. Hairdos are booked for the fair ladies with a Los Altos salon.

Double staffs are alerted to cook and serve. The "capacity day" flag is flying. This means 190 patrons will be served luncheon as fast as volunteer feet can fly. Then in the scant half-hour between "houses," the dining room will be cleared and crumbed, every dish and utensil stuffed through the dishwasher, dried, re-stacked, tables reset, while a whole new shift of cooks prepares the tea-time delicacies.

A group of provisionals who will doff their work smocks after six months of arduous training and make their debuts as models. Those named for the Feb. 4 show are Mrs. Robert McLaughlin, Mrs. Kenneth E. Schmidt, Mrs. Raymond Colpien and Mrs. Douglas Beetlestone. Sharing the runway will be Mrs. F. S. Harris, Mrs. George Hurley, Mrs. Otto Trechter, Mrs. John J. Antel, retiring Palo Alto Junior Auxiliary president, Mrs. James P. Aced, who has taken over Mrs. Anten's gavel, and Mrs. George Tuft, who is assuming the tea chirmanship held by Mrs. Aced for the past two years. Mrs. George U. Richmond will be commentator.

Palo Alto Auxiliary

AT THE HELM . . .

Sunday Suppers Go International

Passers-by who smell wonderful unfamiliar odors and hear the romantic sounds of guitar music at Country House on Sunday evening, Jan. 27, should not be too surprised.

That's the scene of the first of a series of once-a-month Sunday night suppers that will feature authentic round-the-world recipes and atmosphere from a different pair of countries each month.

The first two countries to be spotlighted will be Chile and Venezuela. Students from Stanford's International Center for Advanced Management Education and their wives have contributed the recipes and will be on hand to greet the lucky people who've made early reservations.

Countries scheduled for the future suppers sound just as fascinating as the first. On Feb. 24, India and Egypt will be featured. On March 24, Brazil and Mexico. On April 21, Thailand and Indonesia.

Mrs. Robert Katz, who is handling the student group, promises all sorts of surprises. "We're serving Chilean punch made of red wine and strawberries for the pre-supper social hour, and Chilean wine through the meal. Senor Jaime Huidobro, a well-known Chilean artist, will show some of his paintings. And for a special treat, Anna and Manuel Leiva will lead the other Chilean couples in a program of songs."

Besides the Leivas, Lucia and Jaime Fuenzalida and Eliana and Mario Gonzalez will represent Chile; Pilar and Jose Tejero Garcia will represent Venezuela.

All the proceeds from Country House go to help the Children's Health Council in its program of diagnosis and treatment of children with mental, physical and emotional problems.

There will be one seating only on the 27th. Social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m. and supper at 6 o'clock. The price is $3 per person. Reservations are necessary; call Country House at DA 4-1714.

Atherton Leaders:

Cancer Drive Taps Chairman

Mrs. Edmund B. Colwell has been appointed Atherton city chairman of the 1963 Crusade to be staged in April by the San Mateo County Branch of the American Society.

Mrs. Colwell has served the annual Cancer Crusade two years previously as a precinct captain. She and her husband, a retired department store owner, formerly lived in Illinois and have resided in Atherton for the past three years.

"Our big need at the moment," said Mrs. Colwell, "is precinct captains and workers for the town's 18 areas. Those who are willing to help us in this important drive should contact me at DA 2-6485 for further information."

Assisting the new city chairman as co-chairman is William C. Louhglin of 61 Catalpa Drive, a veteran of five years in the chairman's position.

"Many of us can't give as much financially as we might like," said Mrs. Colwell, "but this is a cause much more worthy of support than many others. So I'm hoping that volunteers will give their time this year — and help us reach our goal to support the American Cancer Society program of education, research and service."

M-A Sophomore Appears on TV

By ROBIN HILL

Bear Tracks has undergone four changes: One in printer, one in process, one in price, and one in paper.

The latest edition of Bear Tracks was printed at Peninsula Lithograph Company.

In previous issues Bear Tracks has been set in movable type; in 1963 it will employ a new process, lithograph. This process entails more work for the Bear Tracks staff but is economically worth it because it results in pproximately sixty dollars price reduction.

Still another change is in the paper used. Bear Tracks is now being printed on newsprint.

Children, Books and Encouragement--Re

An Invaluable Asset...

The wonderful world of books can offer even more than education to the adult who has grown up with books as companions. Reading for specific knowledge is a part of every student's school life. Reading for pleasure and entertainment is a bonus that will enlarge general knowledge and add richness to leisure hours.

If the humanities are to stay in step as the body of scientific knowledge increases, it will be because libraries are an environment as inviting to youngsters as to their elders.

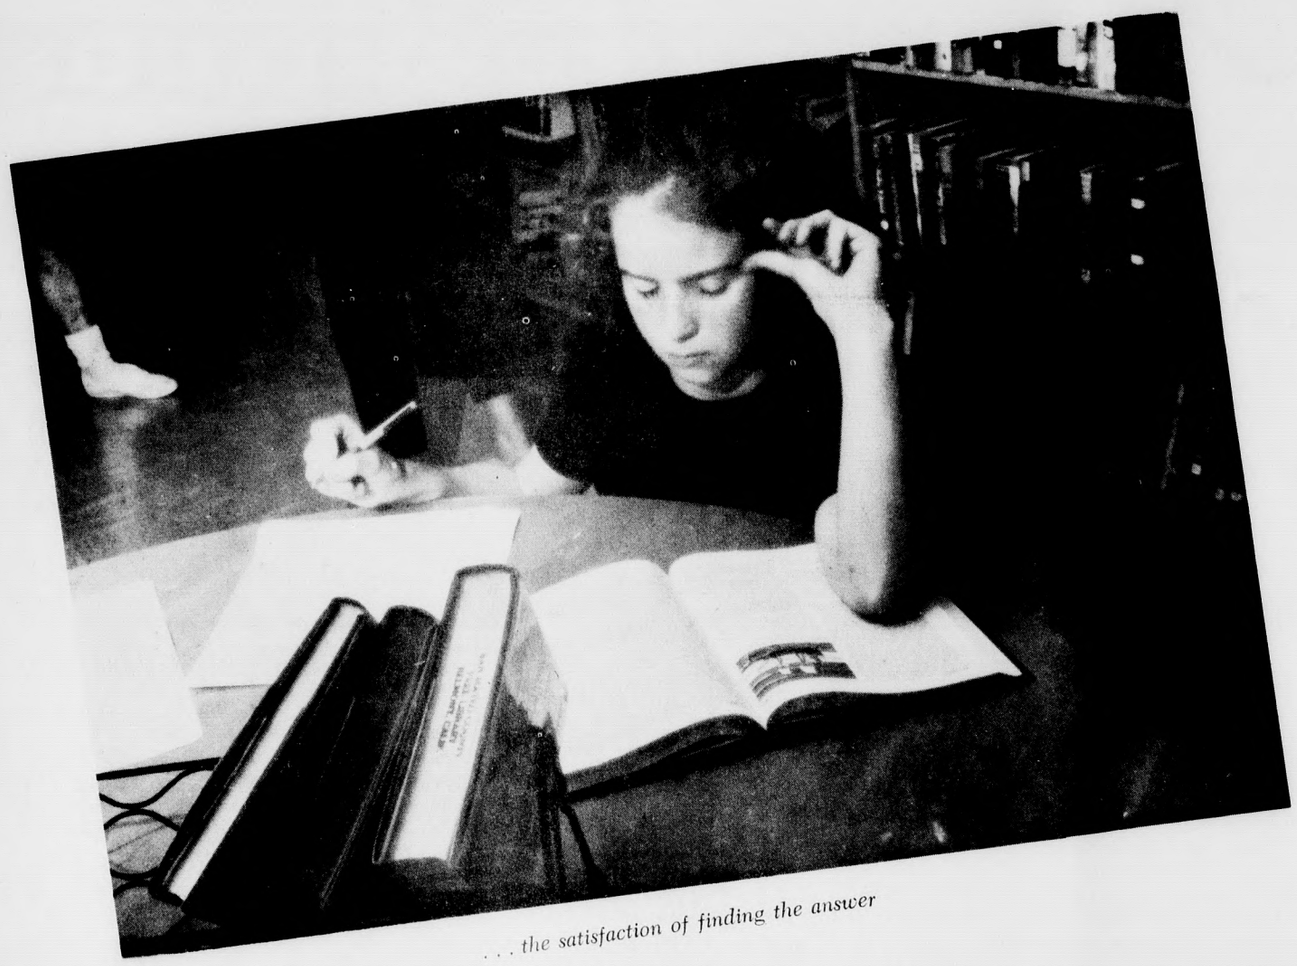

In Menlo Park, it is a matter of record that library use is far above average by the yardstick of national patronage of such institutions, according to Phil Morales, head librarian. Each month, for example, 24,000 books are lent to 15,576 members.

Children who can write their names are encouraged to hold library cards; however, it's safe to assume that one card serves a family in many cases.

Spending an hour or so in the Menlo Park library reveals many things besides the atmosphere of relaxed and unselfconscious pursuit of knowledge. In this series of pictures examining a segment of the library's patrons, it becomes apparent that children are encouraged, not just tolerated.

A childrens' librarian is part of a staff of eleven. Small children are under her wing; the older may select books where interest or direction points them.

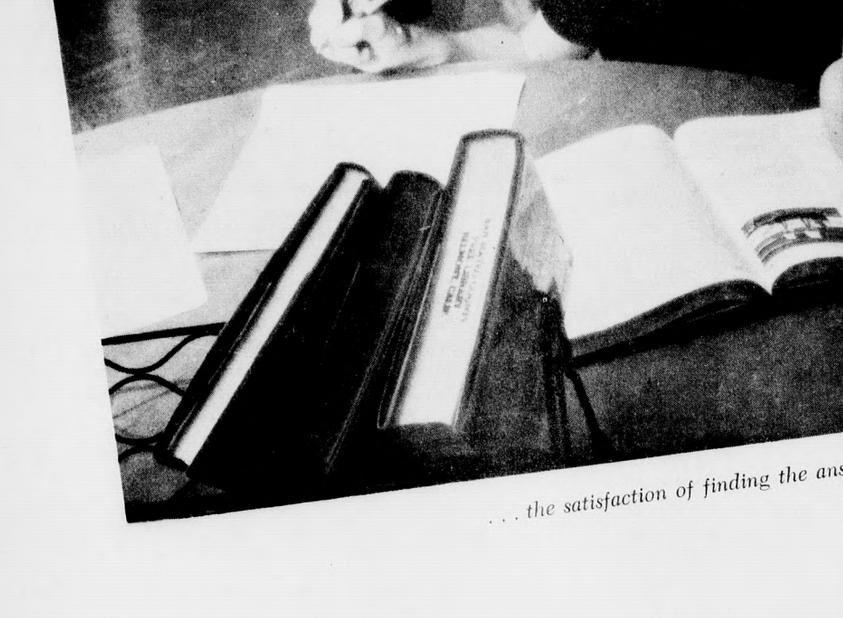

Special services for pre-school, elementary and high school children (designed also for adult use) include a constantly growing supply of current and classic fiction, a remarkably complete junior non-fiction section; a representative selection of periodicals; a relatively new record collection; heavy duty reference texts and a photostat service to duplicate text material.

. . . the satisfaction of finding the answer

. . . Phil Morales, head librarian

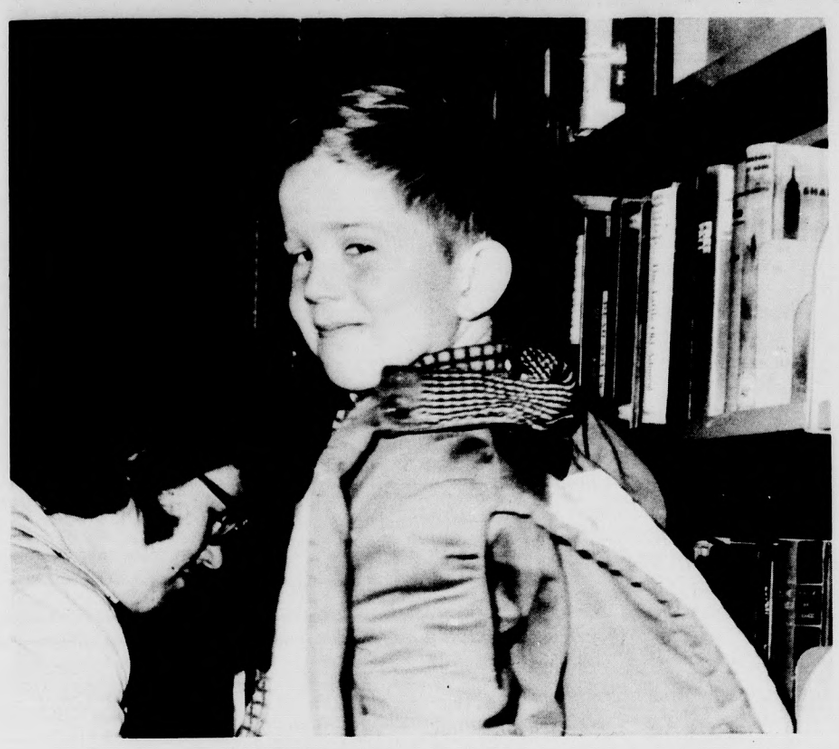

. . . in the fifth grade, it gets even harder!

. . . a library is a familiar place

Result: Lifetime Library Users

. . . first Dr. Spock; next Gesell — what next?

. . . read any good books lately?

. . . it's a wide, wonderful world

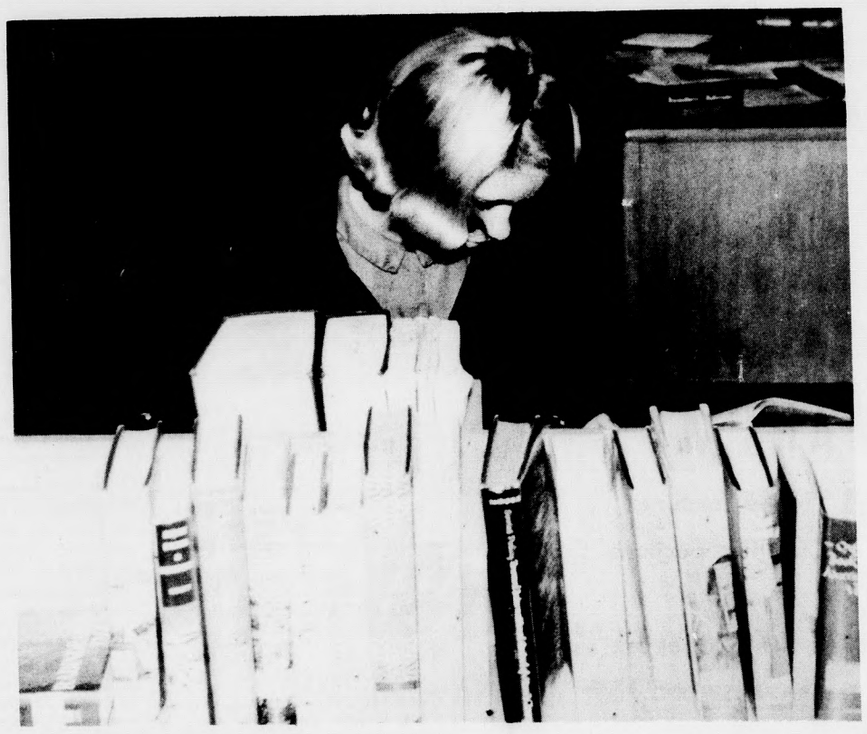

. . . and then the wolf gobbled the grandmother all up

Service for Students...

. . . businessmen and housewives solves a problem for Marianne Richardson (at left) of Woodside. A Menlo Park librarian, in this case, Mrs. Esther Lundgren, can for 25 cents a sheet photostat book, magazine or newspaper copy that is needed for inclusion in a report or as a ready home or office reference. Obviously, the service is of great help to students when one class of 35 or 40 students is assigned reading in a text of which there are but two or three available in the library. Students can also use photostatic material for making charts, graphs or other pictorial illustrations for reports and term papers. —Howard Pierce photo
